Course Overview

COURSE DESCRIPTION:

This course will specifically address the skills identified in each student's Individualized Education Plan. All students participating in this course are identified as having a disability and require special education supports. Students placed in this class have been identified as students that will struggle to progress in the general education mathematics curriculum even with the use of modifications, accommodations, and supplementary services. Hence, this class will focus specifically on the skills each individual student requires. Instruction is differentiated based on each student; hence, a curriculum is not written. The IEP acts as the curriculum to guide the teacher's instructional practices.

Textbooks and Other Resources

Standards

Standards will be based on the goals and objectives listed in each student's IEP.
