Course Overview

United States History I is designed to enable learners to see the interrelationship between the period in the United States and New Jersey history from the Opening of the West through the Great Depression. Furthermore, learners will examine current national and state issues with a historical perspective that engages critical thinking and action. In this course students are expected to demonstrate mastery/proficiency of all NJCCCS CPI's from 6.4.12.H through and including 6.4.12.J. The course also reinforces the learning of other Standards and CPI's already mastered and contributes to the development of mastery of other standards in the areas of Language Arts Literacy (NJSLS), Technology Literacy (NJSLS), and Career Education and Consumer/Family/Life Skills.

Units of Study

Unit 0: What Skills Does a Historian Need?

Essential Theme: To open the school year, the goal is to have students assess not only why U.S. history is a high school graduation requirement but how to be a successful historian. The skills that educators will focus on are reading, writing, organizing and public speaking.

Essential Question: What skills does a historian need?

Unit 1: The American West

Essential Theme: In opening the West for settlement, the federal government relocated Native Americans to vastly diminished homelands or eliminated them in military battles. Immigrants, African Americans, and white Americans eagerly moved into the new frontier to mine, ranch, and establish farms. New technologies and perseverance helped them survive in the new landscape.”

Essential Question: What was the immediate and long term, impact on the culture and politics of the US? Explain the methods used to transform the West from unsettled territories to ranches, farms and towns.

Unit 2: The Second Industrial Revolution

Essential Theme: “The growth of the railroad industry fueled the Second Industrial Revolution, making America the world’s manufacturing leader. Demand for rails and railroad cars spurred expansion in coal mining and steel manufacturing. Improved communications and transportation connected distant markets-across the nation and the world.”

Essential Question: How did government economic policies affect the lives of everyday Americans during the Second Industrial Revolution?

Unit 3: Life at the Turn of the Century

Essential Theme: “In the late 1800s waves of immigrants came from Southern and Eastern Europe, settling in the cities and living and working in squalid conditions. Government at all levels was plagued by corruption. Discrimination was a daily reality for African, Asian, and Native Americans.”

Essential Question: How did immigrants and Americans adapt to poor working and living conditions while coping with widespread government corruption?

Unit 4: The Progressives 1898-1920

Essential Theme: “As the 1900s dawned, activists called Progressives fought to make America’s economic and political systems fairer. Some fought for women’s suffrage. Other attacked a wide range of societal ills. The Progressive movement involved countless individuals and groups at all levels of government.”

Essential Question: What affect did Progressive reforms have upon American society and the world we know?

Unit 5: Imperialism

Essential Theme: “U.S. foreign relations took a new turn at the end of the nineteenth century. Global competition for empire led the United States into war against Spain and into military conflicts in Mexico. The United States had forged a new role as a world power.”

Essential Question: What were the causes the allowed the U.S. to emerge as a world power?

Unit 6: The First World War

Essential Theme: “The United States tried to stay neutral when war swept Europe. After the United States joined the Allies in 1917, however, the government quickly mobilized the economy and built public support for the war.”

Essential Question: What brought the United States into global conflict and what affect did this have upon the world’s view of the democratic system?

Unit 7: From War to Peace

Essential Theme: "The end of the war brought peace to Americans, but not peace of mind. Dangers seen and unseen troubled the nation-until a new president in the White House and a booming economy seemed to smooth the transition from war to peace."

Essential Question: How does American transition from a wartime economy to a thriving capitalist society?

Unit 8: Post War America/The Roaring 20's

Essential Theme: "American culture underwent rapid and radical change in the 1920s. Signs of this change were everywhere-in the music and fashions of the day, in the habits and pastimes of Americans, in the art and literature of the country's most creative minds. Large population shifts and new technologies transformed the nation from rural to urban and from traditional to modern."

Essential Question: How did the morality, culture and daily life of Americans transform as a result of the 1920s social revolution?

Unit 9: The Great Depression

Essential Theme: "The boom times of the 1920s had never reached into all sectors of the economy. Much of the prosperity rested on shaky foundations. In 1929 the economy's underlying weaknesses were exposed. The stock market collapsed, and the nation plunged into the worst economic depression in its history."

Essential Question: What were the causes that brought the U.S. into its worst economic depression?

Unit 10: The New Deal

Essential Theme: "The New Deal was President Franklin D. Roosevelt's plan for overcoming the Great Depression. His plan gave government jobs to the unemployed and increased government regulation of the economy. Although New Deal programs achieved varied levels of success, they did represent a basic change in American society."

Essential Question: What effect did the New Deal have upon the ongoing Great Depression in America?

Unit 11: World War II

Essential Theme: "World War II witnessed a global conflagration that engulfed America following the treacherous attack at Pearl Harbor in 1941. The war would have a profound impact on American foreign policy and force the government to make challenging decisions in regards to human rights at home and abroad. Ultimately, America helped to spearhead the allied victory but the war did come at a great cost."

Essential Question: How might the war had been different if Japan had never attacked Pearl Harbor and America clung to its policy of isolationism? Why didn't America take any physical action to end the Holocaust? How did the war impact Americans at home? Specifically, women, African Americans, and Japanese Americans? How would you evaluate President Truman's decision to use nuclear weapons as a means to end the war in the Pacific?

Standards

LA.RH.9-10.1	Accurately cite strong and thorough textual evidence, to support analysis of primary and secondary sources, attending to such features as the date and origin of the information.
LA.RH.9-10.2	Determine the theme, central ideas, key information and/or perspective(s) presented in a primary or secondary source; provide an accurate summary that makes clear the relationships among the key details and ideas.
LA.RH.9-10.3	Analyze in detail a series of events described in a text; draw connections between the events, to determine whether earlier events caused later ones or simply preceded them.
LA.RH.9-10.4	Determine the meaning of words and phrases as they are used in a text, including vocabulary describing political, social, or economic aspects of history and the social sciences; analyze the cumulative impact of specific word choices on meaning and tone.
LA.RH.9-10.5	Analyze how a text uses structure to emphasize key points or advance an explanation or analysis.
LA.RH.9-10.6	Compare the point of view of two or more authors in regards to how they treat the same or similar topics, including which details they include and emphasize in their respective accounts.
LA.RH.9-10.7	Integrate quantitative or technical analysis (e.g., charts, research data) with qualitative analysis in print or digital text, to analyze information presented via different mediums.
LA.RH.9-10.8	Assess the extent to which the reasoning and evidence in a text support the author's claims.
LA.RH.9-10.9	Compare and contrast treatments of the same topic, or of various perspectives, in several primary and secondary sources; analyze how they relate in terms of themes and significant historical concepts.
LA.RST.9-10.1	Accurately cite strong and thorough evidence from the text to support analysis of science and technical texts, attending to precise details for explanations or descriptions.
LA.RST.9-10.2	Determine the central ideas, themes, or conclusions of a text; trace the text's explanation or depiction of a complex process, phenomenon, or concept; provide an accurate summary of the text.
LA.RST.9-10.5	Analyze the relationships among concepts in a text, including relationships among key terms (e.g., force, friction, reaction force, energy).
LA.RST.9-10.6	Determine the author's purpose in providing an explanation, describing a procedure, or discussing an experiment in a text, defining the question the author seeks to address.
LA.RST.9-10.8	Determine if the reasoning and evidence in a text support the author's claim or a recommendation for solving a scientific or technical problem.
LA.WHST.9-10.1.A	Introduce precise claim(s), distinguish the claim(s) from alternate or opposing claims, and create an organization that establishes clear relationships among the claim(s), counterclaims, reasons, and evidence.

LA.WHST.9-10.1.B	Develop claim(s) and counterclaims using sound reasoning, supplying data and evidence for each while pointing out the strengths and limitations of both claim(s) and counterclaims in a discipline-appropriate form and in a manner that anticipates the audience's knowledge level and concerns.
LA.WHST.9-10.1.C	Use transitions (e.g., words, phrases, clauses) to link the major sections of the text, create cohesion, and clarify the relationships between claim(s) and reasons, between reasons and evidence, and between claim(s) and counterclaims.
LA.WHST.9-10.1.D	Establish and maintain a style and tone appropriate to the audience and purpose (e.g., formal and objective for academic writing) while attending to the norms and conventions of the discipline in which they are writing.
LA.WHST.9-10.1.E	Provide a concluding paragraph or section that supports the argument presented.
LA.WHST.9-10.2.A	Introduce a topic and organize ideas, concepts, and information to make important connections and distinctions; include formatting (e.g., headings), graphics (e.g., figures, tables), and multimedia when useful to aiding comprehension.
LA.WHST.9-10.2.B	Develop the topic with well-chosen, relevant, and sufficient facts, extended definitions, concrete details, quotations, or other information and examples appropriate to the audience's knowledge of the topic.
LA.WHST.9-10.2.D	Use precise language and domain-specific vocabulary to manage the complexity of the topic and convey a style appropriate to the discipline and context as well as to the expertise of likely readers.
LA.WHST.9-10.2.E	Establish and maintain a style and tone appropriate to the audience and purpose (e.g., formal and objective for academic writing) while attending to the norms and conventions of the discipline in which they are writing.
LA.WHST.9-10.2.F	Provide a concluding paragraph or section that supports the argument presented.
LA.WHST.9-10.4	Produce clear and coherent writing in which the development, organization, and style are appropriate to task, purpose, and audience.
LA.WHST.9-10.5	Develop and strengthen writing as needed by planning, revising, editing, rewriting, or trying a new approach, focusing on addressing what is most significant for a specific purpose and audience.
LA.WHST.9-10.6	Use technology, including the Internet, to produce, share, and update writing products, taking advantage of technology's capacity to link to other information and to display information flexibly and dynamically.
LA.WHST.9-10.7	Conduct short as well as more sustained research projects to answer a question (including a self-generated question) or solve a problem; narrow or broaden the inquiry when appropriate; synthesize multiple sources on the subject, demonstrating understanding of the subject under investigation.
LA.WHST.9-10.8	Gather relevant information from multiple authoritative print and digital sources, using advanced searches effectively; assess the usefulness of each source in answering the research question; integrate information into the text selectively to maintain the flow of ideas, avoiding plagiarism and following a standard format for citation.
LA.WHST.9-10.9	Draw evidence from informational texts to support analysis, reflection, and research.

TECH.8.1.8.C.CS4	Contribute to project teams to produce original works or solve problems.
TECH.8.1.8.D.2	Demonstrate the application of appropriate citations to digital content.

TECH.8.1.8.D.4	Assess the credibility and accuracy of digital content.
TECH.8.1.8.E.1	Effectively use a variety of search tools and filters in professional public databases to find information to solve a real world problem.
TECH.8.1.8.E.CS2	Locate, organize, analyze, evaluate, synthesize, and ethically use information from a variety of sources and media.
TECH.8.1.8.F.CS3	Collect and analyze data to identify solutions and/or make informed decisions.

Grading and Evaluation Guidelines

In United States History I the goal is that a minimum of 95% of the pupils will meet at least the minimum proficiency level (D or better) set for the course. The department will analyze the achievement of students on Unit Assessments, Mid-term and Final Exams and Final Course Grades, and for Final Course Grades the achievement of sub-groups identified by the state to determine if modifications in the curriculum and instructional methods are needed.

The final course proficiency grade will be the average of the four marking period grades (80%) and the department prepared mid-year (10%) and final (10%) examinations aligned with NJSLs and the applicable United States History Content Standards for the period of US History from 1876 - World War II.

Marking period grades will be based on the average of unit grades and any special cross-unit projects.

Unit assessments, delineated for each unit, will include such measures as:

- Written and Performance Measures of proficiency objectives (coded to NJSLs & State Content Standards)
- Records of oral participation in classroom discussions related to unit objectives
- Records of achievement of lesson objectives (i.e. formative assessments, relevant homework)
- Research paper

Grading Breakdown:

Assessments: 90%

Homework: 10%

SCED

04102 Early U.S. History

Early U.S. History courses examine the history of the United States from the colonial period to the Civil War or Reconstruction era (some courses end after this period). Some courses include American history before European settlement, while others may begin at the formation of the new nation. These courses typically include a historical overview of political, military, scientific, and social developments.
