

Unit 1: Shopping and Money

Content Area: World Language
Course(s): Italian II
Time Period:
Length: 3 weeks
Status: Published

Unit Overview

Learning the verb "fare" as do or make but also in certain idiomatic expressions, distinguishing between types of stores and shops, recognizing the euro as a currency comparable to the US dollar, and forming large numbers in regards to money, population, and years.

Essential Questions

- How do I express actions that myself and others do?
- How are certain expressions structured differently in other languages?
- What are the differences between shops in Italy and stores in the US?
- Why do different currencies exist and what implications do they have on the economy?
- How are years expressed differently in other languages?
- How does the population of Italian regions compare to that of US States?

Enduring Understandings

- Effective communication involves recognizing questions and the ability to produce an answer in the target language.
- Recognition of different currencies and their value enhances global competency.
- Distinguishing between unique linguistic expressions, such as years and "fare" phrases, deepens appreciation for the language and culture.
