Unit 2: Day Shift: King of Short Stories

Content Area: Language Arts Literacy

Course(s):

Time Period: October
Length: 10 blocks
Status: Published

Transfer

The everyday object and occurance can prove itself to be horrifying yet liberating when revisioned by the pen of King (who presents both common and obscure fears).

Enduring Understandings

- Although physical horror is more readily the precursor to psychological horror the inverse can often be found in the works of King.
- Modern Horror presents themes of psychological alienation; the human is alone in an absurd universe.
- Fear is a complex emotion that can take on many forms and the reaction/processing of each is unique depending on the individual.
- King explores a variety of human vices (i.e. alcoholism, addiction) and presents them in a way that is unique to the genres of horror and science fiction.
- The setting of a work of horror can add tremendous depth to the tension and mood of the story.

Essential Questions

- What aspects of Stephen King's life shaped the short stories he created?
- What periods of horror are present in works from Night Shift and how can the works be compared to classic voices like Poe, Faulkner, and Dickinson?
- What classic elements of the short story are present in these works and how do they vary in accordance with the genre of horror?
- What types of fear and/or concerns does King present in Night Shift and how do the characters respond to them?
- How is King able to make everyday objects, interactions, and subject matter more horrifying in his works of short fiction?
- How can a reader overcome the horrors/fears mentioned in the previous bullet through a close study of these tales?

Content

Works of Study

• Night Shift - Potential Stories - "Graveyard Shift", "The Mangler", "The Boogeyman", "Gray Matter",

- "Battleground", "Trucks", "The Ledge", "The Lawnmower Man", "Quitters Inc.", "Children of the Corn", "One for the Road".
- Film versions of the tales "Graveyard Shift", "Children of the Corn", "Trucks", "The Ledge", "The Lawnmower Man", "Quitters Inc.". Excerpts from Creepshow I and II where applicable.
- On Writing: A Memoir of the Craft
- Stephen King: The Art of Darkness
- The Stephen King Companion: Four Decades of Fear from the Master of Horror

Skills

- Classify the short works of Stephen King via the subgenres of horror studied in the previous unit
- Identify the different types of fear / concerns that Stephen King presents in each short story
- Analyze/Critique the surface level (as it pertains to the story) and grand scale of each fear/concern that Stephen King presents
- Justify arguments and support opinions with specific references to text that include proper parenthetical citations
- Cite details from the text to justify a given inference or conclusion about ideas discussed in the text.
- Summarize the text by identifying central ideas/topics or key events in chronological order, and by citing relevant supporting details without extraneous information.
- Demonstrate command of the conventions of standard English grammar and usage when writing or speaking.