Consequences of the stock market crash of 1929

- The crash signaled the beginning of the Great Depression although serious flaws in the economy had existed for years.
- People lost investments, which led to financial ruin, and many committed suicide.
- Bank runs: Clients panicked and, attempting to withdraw their money from the banks, discovered their funds were lost.
- There were no new investments.

Causes of the Great Depression

- Overproduction of industrial and agricultural products
- Purchasing items on credit, placing Americans in an unstable financial position
- Unequal distribution of wealth, making it difficult for many Americans to make purchases
- An agricultural depression that had plagued farmers throughout the 1920s
- Federal Reserve's failure to prevent widespread collapse of the nation's banking system in the late 1920s and early 1930s, leading to severe contraction in the nation's supply of money in circulation
- High protective tariffs produced retaliatory tariffs in other countries, restricting world trade

Impact of the Great Depression

- Unemployment and homelessness
- Collapse of the financial system (bank closings)
- Decline in demand for goods

Holocaust: The Nazis targeted specific groups for genocide to create a “master race.” The savagery of war and indecencies against humanity were prevalent during World War II.

Unit Essential Questions:

1. When is war justified?
2. What political, economical, and military mistakes did the Axis powers make that cost them the war?
3. What was the US war strategy in the Pacific and why was it successful?
4. How did the US mobilize the homefront war effort?
5. What groups of people did the Nazi’s target and why?
6. What was the cost of human life during WWII and how did it have a global impact?

Unit Enduring Understandings:

1. The United States policy of neutrality in World War II was no longer a viable option following the events of Pearl Harbor.
2. Military miscalculations by the leadership of the Axis powers led to a strategic Allied victory in World War II.
3. The war strategy of the United States in the Pacific led to America’s victory against Japan.
4. World War II was a total war in which all of America’s economic and human resources had to be mobilized to their greatest capacity.
5. The Nazis targeted specific groups for genocide to create a “master race.”
6. The savagery of war and indecencies against humanity were prevalent during World War II.

Students will know:

- During the first two years of the war, the United States stayed officially neutral while Germany overran France and most of Europe and pounded Britain from the air (the Battle of Britain). In mid-1941, Hitler turned on his former partner and invaded the Soviet Union.
- Despite strong isolationist sentiment at home, the United States increasingly helped Britain. It gave Britain war supplies and old naval warships in return for military bases in Bermuda and the Caribbean. Soon after, the Lend-Lease Act gave the president authority to sell or lend equipment to countries to defend themselves against the Axis powers. Franklin Roosevelt compared it to “lending a garden hose to a next-door neighbor whose house is on fire.”
- While negotiating with the United States and without any warning, Japan carried out an air attack on the American naval base at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, on December 7, 1941. The attack destroyed much of the American Pacific fleet and killed several thousand Americans. Roosevelt called it “a date that will live in infamy” as he asked Congress to declare war on Japan.
- After Pearl Harbor, Hitler honored a pact with Japan and declared war on the United States. The debates over isolationism in the United States were over. World War II was now a true

Students will be able to:

- Analyze the causes and events that led to American involvement in the war, including the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor and the American response.
- Describe and locate the major battles and key leaders of the European and Pacific theaters.
- Evaluate and explain how the United States mobilized its economic and military resources, including the role of all-minority military units (the Tuskegee Airmen and Nisei regiments) and the contributions of media, minorities, and women to the war effort.
- Analyze the Holocaust (Hitler’s “final solution”), its impact on Jews and other groups, and the postwar trials of war criminals.
- Evaluate and explain the treatment of prisoners of war and civilians by the Allied and Axis powers.

Denotation of and atomic weapons testing as well as new chemicals start the beginnings of the ‘greenhouse effect’ and other climate issues.

6.1.12.EconNE.12.a: Assess the impact of agricultural innovation on the world economy

During the Cold War, America’s agricultural economy became a symbol of power and was used as a psychological weapon against the USSR. The late 1950s–1960s began the chemical revolution in agricultural science, with the increasing use of anhydrous ammonia as a cheap source of nitrogen spurring higher yields. By the end of the 1980s, farmers were using low-input sustainable agriculture (LISA) techniques to decrease chemical applications.

Unit Essential Questions:

1. What is the difference between communism and capitalism/democracy?
2. What was the impact of the Space race on the American government, American people, and the science community?
3. How did the US ensure economic growth and stability?
4. How did agricultural inventions impact the world economy?
5. What constitutional controversies existed over war conflicts during the Cold War?
6. Did the US support or oppose independence movements around the world?
7. How were civil liberties infringed upon during the era of McCarthyism?
8. Has the development of nuclear weapons affected international relationships and conflicts?
9. How did American Foreign policy lead to the Korean War, Vietnam War, and Cuban Missile crisis? When do our freedoms and traditions become sacrificed for security?

Unit Enduring Understandings:

1. The United States and the Soviet Union represented starkly different fundamental values. The United States represented democratic political institutions and a generally free market economic system. The Soviet Union was a totalitarian government with a communist (socialist) economic system.
2. NASA was formed under John F. Kenedy as the “race to the moon” took off between the US and the USSR. The US government would spare no expense to increase technology. When the USSR launched Sputnik, the first space satellite, Americans lived in fear. African American women Katherine Johnson, Dorothy Vaighn, and Mary Jackson made enormous contributions to the development of the Apollo 11.
3. The heavy military expenditures throughout the Cold War benefited the US economy. New inventions in the 1950’s created a flourishing economy under Eisenhower. The baby boom increased the needs for products and goods.
4. During the Cold War, America’s agricultural economy became a symbol of power and was used as a psychological weapon against the USSR. As a result, the American farmer was elevated beyond a mere producer of substance to an active cold war participant. The ramifications of agriculture’s role in the cold war have lasted for decades in the form of subsidies, surpluses, and a lasting welfare system for farmers and agricultural interests.
5. Civil liberties of people were violated when they were accused and convicted of being communist without substantial proof. People in Hollywood were “Blacklisted” from the movie industry.

10. How did the Arab-Israeli conflict influence American Foreign Policy? 11. What is our role as a Superpower and how does it sometimes conflict with our values?	6. As countries began to decolonize it was important to the US that they did not turn into communist countries. Decolonizing countries were looking for help from either the US or the USSR to escape the colonial empire. The United States practiced a kind of informal imperialism where they replaced leaders they did not like in other countries—Patrice Lumumba in the Democratic Republic of the Congo and Salvador Allende in Chile were prime examples. 7. The Second Red Scare of the late 1940’s and early 1950’s was a grave threat to rights guaranteed in the Bill of Rights. Senator Joseph McCarthy played on American fears of communism by recklessly accusing many American governmental officials and other citizens of being communists, based on flimsy or no evidence. This led to the coining of the term McCarthyism—the making of false accusations based on rumor or guilt by association. The convictions of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg for spying for the Soviet Union and the construction of nuclear weapons by the Soviets, using technical secrets obtained through spying, increased domestic fears of communism. 8. After the Soviet Union matched the United States in nuclear weaponry in the 1950s, the threat of a nuclear war that would destroy both countries was ever-present throughout the Cold War. America, under President Eisenhower, adopted a policy of “massive retaliation” to deter any nuclear strike by the Soviets. 9. The Truman Doctrine of “containment of communism” was a guiding principle of American foreign policy throughout the Cold War—not to uproot communism where it already existed, but to keep it from spreading and to resist communist aggression into other countries. The Korean War, Vietnam War and the Cuban Missile crisis with the Soviet Union led to missteps that we have to deal with in the future.
