Unit 3: Scratchboard- Etching into Clay

Content Area: Art
Course(s): Materials and Techniques
Time Period: November
Length: 8 blocks
Status: Published

Enduring Understandings

Traditional scratchboard is the illustrative technique of using sharp knives and tools for etching into thin layers of white china clay that is coated with black India ink.

Scratchboard is used to yield highly detailed, precise and evenly textured work.

Value is the key to creating 3-dimensional form on a 2-dimensional surface.

Mark-making mediums defy the traditional methods for smoothing or blending values.

Realism can be achieved through the appropriate placement of a variety of light and dark values.

Textured subject matter lends itself to mark-making mediums

Essential Questions

How will you use value to create 3-dimensional forms on a 2-dimensional surface?

How do you know that your drawing has the right values with correct placement?

How will you ensure that your completed drawing is finished with fine craftsmanship?

How will you avoid making mistakes in this completely unforgiving medium?

How will you utilize your materials to create desired effects?

How will you choose your subject to best demonstrate the advantages of scratchboard?
