

UNIT 1, VERGIL, AENEID, Book 1

Content Area: World Languages
Course(s): AP Latin
Time Period: September
Length: 12-13 block classes
Status: Published

Enduring Understandings

Effective comprehension of Latin is dependent on students' skill in identifying definitions and metrical devices in order to readily interpret summations and literal translations of Latin words.

The ability to combine the knowledge of use, grammar/syntax, morphology, and vocabulary of the Latin language should be implemented to create the most literal, yet reflective, translation possible.

Contextual knowledge is informed through historical and mythological concepts.

Essential Questions

Theme 1: Literary Genre and Style Essential Questions:

- What should we expect from a Latin epic or commentarii in terms of form and content? How do the authors confirm or challenge our expectations?
- What are the purposes and effects of Vergil's and Caesar's style?
- What points of view do Vergil and Caesar take when describing events? How do they represent themselves and for what purposes?
- What means do the authors use to develop characters in the works? How do the authors portray female characters?
- How do the authors use characterization to develop key themes?

Theme 4: Leadership Essential Questions:

- What different types of leaders (both male and female) and leadership styles do we see in these works?
- How do leaders deal with setbacks and failures?
- How does a leader inspire others to follow?

Theme 7: Human Beings and the Gods Essential Questions:

- What roles do the gods play and how are they perceived? To what extent do the gods of other peoples resemble those of the Romans?
- How do the authors portray fate? How does fate affect human beings?
- How and why do human beings and gods communicate with one another?

Further questions:

- What makes the Aeneid an epic?
- What expectations should we have of the narrative given that the story is an epic?
- What are we to think of epic characters, especially heroes, from the way they are introduced?
- How might it affect Aeneas to talk to someone whom he suspects is a goddess only to realize too late that it is his own mother?

- What do we learn about Roman expectations of women from meeting Dido?
- To what extent is pietas as a Roman character trait developed?
- To what extent is the character of Aeneas as a hero developed?

Reading and Comprehension

1.E Scan dactylic hexameter in Latin poetry.

1.E.i: Identify the elements of scansion of dactylic hexameter (e.g., dactyls, spondees, elision). 1.E.ii: Mark scansion of dactylic hexameter. 1.E.iii: Determine vocabulary, grammar, and syntax based on scansion (e.g., case and number of nouns and adjectives, tense of verbs, distinction between similar words).

Argumentation

5.B Support the argument using relevant evidence from Latin texts and readings in English.

Applicable NJSL-S-WL intercultural statements (interpretive mode of communication, intermediate high/mid):

- Through the target language, learners identify and investigate typical products related to everyday life in the target culture(s) and in the learners' own culture. They use their insights to infer perspectives (attitudes, values, beliefs, the way a native speaker living in the target culture interprets meaning) of the target culture society.
- Learners recognize and identify a few typical practices of the target culture in order to gain understanding of the perspectives of the target culture(s) and their societies.

Presentational mode:

Although Latin is explored in primarily the interpretive mode, the poetic form of the Aeneid is especially susceptible to skill acquisition through the learning and presentation of dactylic hexameter. Information is conveyed through the poetic format. Accordingly, scansion of Dactylic hexameter and presentation of the text in metrically accurate format aligns with NJSL-S-WL standard: • 7.1.IH.PRSNT.1: Present detailed information orally and in writing on information gathered from culturally authentic resources, using short paragraphs and often using major time frames.
