Enduring Understandings

Paris becomes the undisputed center of the Western art world, but Rome is still a significant artistic force.

The theme of classical mythology comes back into style.

No single American embodied the principles of Neoclassicism more than Thomas Jefferson.

The Romantic Movement took a powerful sweep through Europe and America, caring a flare for the dramatic and social injustices of society.

Nineteenth Century realism was an age of revolutions; economic, social, and political as well as contemporary ideas about human rights.

Essential Questions

What are the stylistic conventions of the Neoclassical and Romanticism time periods?

How has who commissions the art changed the content and emotional drive of the paintings?

How have politically corrupt dealings sway the artist in their art?

How has architecture and painting developed during this era in America?

What is the difference between linear and painterly?

What is the big change we are seeing in art?

How has 19th century Realism enlightened the viewer to real common everyday life of the working class as well as social and political injustices?

How has photography changed art?
