Unit 6: Headlines and Design

Content Area: Language Arts Literacy
Course(s): School Newspaper
Time Period: May
Length: 6 weeks
Status: Published

Transfer

Unit Goals:

- Design spreads that incorporate all the standard rules of layout and design
- Use the design concepts in this unit to create blogs and/or newsletters for various topics which reflect college/workplace atmospheres
- Understand that design elements and the impact of visual presentation is beneficial in college and the workplace

Enduring Understandings

By the end of this unit students will understand that…

- Appearance in newspapers is essential to success.
- "Points of entry" grab readers' attention, guide readers into stories, and communicate vital information quickly.
- Professional reporters do not design their own pages; many jobs require "page design" skills.
- Headlines serve to grab the readers' attention and summarize the main idea of the article.
- Journalistic design is governed by stylistic principles but relies on creativity for continuing interest.

Essential Questions

By the end of the unit students will be able to answer…

- How do magazines and newspapers design pages for simplicity, engagement and sales?
- How can you design to highlight your story?
- Who designs the pages in magazines and newspapers? What skills are needed to design an appealing page?
- How can headlines affect reader interest?
- How can layout choices impact news content?
- When is it effective to challenge stylistic principles?
