Essential Questions

- How do sources of information differ for ancient history vs. modern history?
- How does a historian assess and interpret ancient history?
- What relationship does social change have to economics?
- What impact did the Romans leave on the areas they ruled?
- How did Roman interests evolve over time?
- What were the causes of the fall of the Roman Empire?

Application of Knowledge: Students will know that...

- Historians gather evidence from written, archaeological, and comparative evidence
- Roman history has three main divisions: regal period, Republic, and Empire
- Rome was threatened by numerous migrations/invasions of peoples moving westward into Europe
- The "Pax Romana" ended during the reign of the Emperor Commodus
- The dictatorship of Julius Caesar and the reign of Augustus were the results of a decades-long social revolution
- The Eastern and Western Roman Empires were officially divided because of rival dynastic claims in the 4th century
- The majority of our evidence for Roman history comes from 200BCE-200CE
- The Roman Empire fell for many and complicated reasons, but the Empire lived on in the East through Constantinople
- The struggle between two classes of people in Rome--the Patricians and the Plebeians--was ended by 287 BC with the Lex Hortensia

Application of Skills: Students will be able to...

- Consider multiple sources in interpreting history
- Explain the causes for major changes in Roman history
- Read and interpret ancient writing in translation
- Relate Roman historical movements and events to modern ones

Assessments

- Character profiles of Roman Emperors
- Summary or retelling of ancient source excerpts
- Informal observations of class discussions
- Infographics of historical periods showing knowledge of sources, movements, and changes
- Matching important vocabulary/figures: Republic, Augustus, Constantine, Julio-Claudian dynasty, etc.
- Written assessment summarizing and interpreting an excerpt from an ancient writer
- Information from this unit will be included on a locally developed, end of course benchmark assessment that may take the form of a test, performance based project, or other summative assessment.

Suggested Activities

- Jigsaw: students read different accounts of the same event, share with peers
- Role-play Patricians and Plebeians and their interests
- Create maps/diagrams of migration waves into Europe over time
- Compare narratives of modern events from online news sources to ancient sources by reproducing the style of ancient sources to retell modern events
- Daily journal reflecting on content and tone of excerpts from Livy, Pliny, Plutarch, and Cassius Dio

Activities to Differentiate Instruction

Differentiation for special education:

- General modifications may include:
 - Modifications & accommodations as listed in the student's IEP
 - Assign a peer to help keep student on task
 - Modified or reduced assignments
 - Reduce length of assignment for different mode of delivery
 - Increase one-to-one time
 - Working contract between you and student at risk
 - Prioritize tasks
 - Think in concrete terms and provide hands-on-tasks
 - Position student near helping peer or have quick access to teacher
 - Anticipate where needs will be
 - Break tests down in smaller increments
- Content specific modifications may include:
 - Differentiated reading material
 - Visual or oral assessments

Differentiation for ELL's:

- General modifications may include:
 - Strategy groups
 - Teacher conferences
 - Graphic organizers
 - Modification plan
 - Collaboration with ELL Teacher
- Content specific vocabulary important for ELL students to understand include:
 - republic, consul, emperor, BCE/CE, archeology, Senate, empire, dictator, migration

Differentiation to extend learning for gifted students may include:

- Choice of ancient source
- More complicated/involved roles for role-playing
- Open-ended questions on assessments and in discussions

Integrated/Cross-Disciplinary Instruction

Social Studies: comparison with current events, analysis and synthesis of text, government types

ELA: analysis and synthesis of text, vocabulary

World Languages: incorporation of Latin terms

Art: analysis of ancient architecture and art
