Essential Questions

How is Spanish grammar different from English grammar?

Application of Knowledge and Skills...

Students will know that...

- ¿Dónde están? is used when the classroom objects are plural
- ¿Qué es esto? means "What is this?"
- if the object is plural, son is used instead of es and unos/unas is used instead of uno/una
- the nouns that do not follow the rule must be memorized
- to ask the color of the classroom object, use the question: ¿Qué color es?
- to ask where something is, say ¿Dónde está...? followed by the item
- to make nouns plural in Spanish, add "s" if the verb ends in a vowel, add "es" if the verb ends in a consonant, and if the verb ends in "z" delete the "z" and add "ces"
- to respond to a color question, say Es (It is), followed by the color
- to respond to a question about where something is located, say the name of the object and Está aquí (It is here.), and point to where the classroom object is located
- to respond to a what is it question, say Es (It is) followed by un/una (depending if the word is masculine or feminine), and the classroom object
- un is "a" masculine and una is "a" feminine
- unos is masculine/plural and unas is feminine plural
- when a noun ends in a, it is usually feminine
- when a noun ends in o, it is usually masculine

Students will be able to . . .

- ask and respond to basic questions about classroom objects, written and orally
- express and recognize classroom objects and commands, in writing and spoken
- give and respond to commands
- make nouns plural
- use the correct indefinite article

Assessments

- answer questions about and label the items in the classroom illustrated on the test; match commands with the correct English translation; form the plural of the nouns listed.
- Classroom Objects and Commands Test
- create an ideal classroom and label the items in the classroom using the correct articles and plurals, if needed; write a sentence under the illustration that tells what is in their classroom.
- Diagnostic: Other visual assessments
- Formative: Personal Project
- My Ideal Classroom

- Pre-assessment
- respond to questions about different objects in the room and to classroom commands.
- Summative: Written Test

Activities

- play "I Spy" in Spanish, reviewing classroom objects and colors vocabulary.
- learn a cultural rhyme that corresponds to the "I Spy" game.
- illustrate a backpack showing classroom items inside; write a sentence describing the contents of the backpack.
- pretend to be the teacher; go to the front of the room and give classroom commands
- illustrate vocabulary by making the letters out of the classroom object (i.e. the letters of lápiz would be pencil shapes).
