Unit Overview

Study skills are an important avenue for developing success in the classroom. Throughout the school year, study skill methods will be introduced, practiced and utilized by all students. These skills will be explicitly taught and/or embedded across the curriculum. Daily planners are provided to the students and their use is modeled by the teacher. They will plan long range assignments using the monthly calendar feature of the planner to assist with time management with teacher guidance. Students will use a variety of tools, such as highlighters and notecards to organize and support learning. They will learn to use these tools to help them annotate text in books and content areas as well as digital text. They will use graphic organizers such as KWL charts, outline models, webs, t- charts, timelines and Venn diagrams to organize, sort and communicate information. They will use vocabulary cards and tree with teacher guidance. They will utilize the SQ4R technique to develop questions to generate ideas during reading. Organizational skills such as ABC order, number order, and color-coding will be examined and used and memorization techniques and mnemonic devices will be taught. By effectively building these skills, the students will be able to capitalize on learning opportunities across the curriculum and build the groundwork for lifelong study and work habits.
