Enduring Understanding

*The curriculum is based on First Peoples: A Documentary Survey of American Indian History by Colin Calloway

Members of the American Indian Movement (AIM) and the Red Power Movement resorted to an active and militant approach to achieve sovereignty.

The 1971 protests at Mount Rushmore and the 1972 occupation of the Bureau of Indian Affairs building reflect efforts to gain self determination for American Indians.

Students will learn the historical significance of:

- Legislative and judicial branches in the rights of American Indians
- Legacy of Wounded Knee
- Tribal Colleges
- Students will determine, through media literacy skills and lateral, close reading strategies when evaluating primary and secondary resources the following: 1. context of the text; 2. reason for the text; 3. type of source the text is; 4. the point of view of the author of the text 5. the intended audience for the text 6. evaluate the stance of the text

- Students will use Historical Thinking Skills to evaluate sources and ideas. Comparison, Contextualization, Continuity and Change over Time, Periodization, Synthesis, Claims, Point of View, Intended Audience, and Purpose.
- Students will observe, note, and draw conclusions with the understanding that there are multiple perspectives. Multiple perspectives is the foundation to understanding the why and how of history. Documents, primary sources, historical readings will be evaluated.
