Enduring Understandings

---

Students will understand the following:

Society is often at odds with one’s personal beliefs.

People experience varying losses ranging from the physical to the emotional, from losses of loved ones, to freedom, physical ability, and youth.

Individuals cope with losses differently by becoming melancholic, angry, entrapped, disillusioned, and/or hardened.

Experiences of loss can result in epiphanies and a consequent awareness of the realities, not the romantics, of one’s self and adult life.

Essential Questions

---

Despite our best efforts, can one truly break free of the paralysis of society?

What do we have to lose in this life?

How do we cope with losses in life?

What is an epiphany?

Knowledge & Skills

Students will read selections from Dubliners to evaluate the reliable vs. unreliable narrator and the role of loss in one's life.

Students will learn Joyce's meaning of epiphany and how it may be used as a literary tool.

Students will know basic information about Joyce's biography and the country and time period that influenced his work.

Additional Resources

Core Text: Dubliners - James Joyce

Core Poem: "The Lake Isle of Innisfree" - William Butler Yeats

Transfer Goals

---

Students will independently be able to trace character development in Dubliners and recognize periods of change in their own lives and how to use these periods for growth and deep learning.

Students will independently be able to understand how society can paralyze the individual and realize that it will be important for them to maintain their own individuality throughout their lives.
