Suggested Activities & Best Practices

Student Centered Learning: Students should either have already selected groups or groups of their choosing and be ready to answer higher order thinking discussion questions related to the theme or topic of the piece of literature being discussed.

Use of Rubrics: After discussing an assignment, allow students to create what they believe to be a fair rubric for assessing the assignment. This allows the students to have a say in how they will be graded as well as accountability for the assignment.

Allowing students to choose their own projects: Having a variety of projects that the students can choose from helps address all learning types. This will allow the students to choose the project they feel they can be most successful in completing.

Brainstorming: This helps in the writing process because it will allow the student to know if they are grasping the topic.

Google Translate: Students should be allowed to utilize Google translate when unfamiliar with terms, expressions and unfamiliar vocabulary

Call on pairs first to share one of their complete sentences and then to call on another student to tell what

Learning Activity: Introduce: Connect Ideas in Sentences Display the table. Call on students to read the sentences and name the conjunction in each. Ask them to name the relationship between the ideas that the conjunctions connect: ● and shows that both girls are snacking ● but and yet contrast what the girls are eating ● so shows that the first idea is the cause or reason and the second idea is the effect or result

Materials: Smartboard, Ilit program, writing journals
