Unit Overview

- Music composition is the synthesis of combining rhythm, notes and expression. Students will create their own composition to capstone the work that has previously be done with rhythm and notes. Improvisation is a facet of composition. To fully understand improvisation, students need to have a firm foundation in basic music theory. Students will improvise simple rhythms and melodies, starting simple with outlined rules, moving to more abstract parameters to stretch creativity. Famous composers will be highlighted for their notable contributions to music. Students will research the composers of the current concert music, to better grasp the history and meaning behind each work.
