Unit Overview

Within Unit Five, students will think of changes they would like to make in the world around them. Students will be encouraged to think of changes they would like to see in the way their school or town. Each week students will produce a project related to the Essential Question. They will then develop one of these projects more fully for the Unit Research Project. Through their research, students will focus their attention on comparing information across sources and recalling, paraphrasing, and presenting information they have found. As students read and reread each week for close reading of text, they take notes, cite text evidence to support their ideas and opinions, and write short analytical responses. After reading, students build writing fluency, analyze model responses, craft longer responses incorporating text evidence, and focus on writing traits.

Enduring Understandings

Students will understand that...

- People take action by using their ingenuity to solve problems for the greater good.
- Getting what we need can happen when money is earned from an occupation, as well as bartering or trading.
- Reusing what we already have is essential to keeping the Earth clean and healthy.
- Teams work together using effective communication and collaboration to achieve their goals.
- Being a good citizen means helping other people, following rules, being respectful to one another, and helping make the community safe.
- Energy comes from many different sources; some are renewable like the sun and the wind.

Essential Questions

- What are ways that people can take action?
- How do we get what we need?
- How can we reuse what we already have?
- How do teams work together?
- What do good citizens do?

- What are different kinds of energy?

Differentiation

- Content: Content will be differentiated through use of multilevel readers for Basic Skills students, Special Education students, Talented and Gifted students, as well as ELL students. The readers are all focused upon the same content, however the lexiles differ depending upon the abilities of the student.
- Process: The process will be differentiated through supplying three tiers of questioning for basic, intermediate, and advanced learners. Additionally, students will be supplied with sentence stems and differentiated student workbooks to foster student success of the established goals.
- Product: The product will be differentiated because student work will be based upon their reading levels and lexiles. Students will be given choice for projects that appeal to their various learning styles to promote confidence and success amongst the students.
- During Readers Workshop, teachers will incorporate differentiation through guided reading, the use of leveled readers and strategy groups. Students also have the choice of selecting their own books to read independently. This can be a controlled choice of books so that they are reading on their independent reading level.
