Prepared by: Ms. Zuleyka Acevedo

Unit Overview

Unit two focuses on the Landscape.

- Discuss the art of landscapes. Define landscape as: art where the central focus is on natural scenery such as mountains, valleys, trees, rivers, lakes, beaches, etc.
- Discuss picture planes, there are three: foreground, middleground, and background. The foreground is the closest to the viewer and therefore has the largest images of the artwork. The background is in the distance and farthest away from the viewer, therefore the images in the background are small. The middleground is in between the two and has average sized images within this picture plane.
- Discuss proportion, define it as: the relative size of parts of a whole. How the images of the various picture planes relate to one another. Is something in the background too large? If so, it is out of proportion.
- Discuss linear perspective, define it as: a method of creating depth in art where all lines converge to a vanishing point on the composition's horizon lines.
- Review horizon line. The line where the ground meets the sky.
- Practice creating a landscape using the information learned.
- Use color theory knowledge to add color to the landscape.
- Reference artists' work that uses landscape. ie: Claude Monet, Andrew Wyeth, etc.

Enduring Understandings

- Understanding the basics of picture planes will help me to create artwork of the outdoors that has depth and realism.
- Understanding proportion can help me in art to make a balanced and realistic creation.
- Linear perspective creates depth in artwork.
- Linear perspective has been used by artists for centuries.

Essential Questions

- Why do artists produce landscape art?

- How can understanding a landscape and all of its parts help me with other artistic endeavors?

Exit Skills

By the end of Unit 2:

- All students will demonstrate an understanding of landscape by:
 - Defining what a landscape is.
 - Explaining the different picture planes, and explaining the size of images in them.
 - Describing what proportion means, and how it can affect the images.
 - Creating a horizon line with a vanishing point where lines converge.
 - Producing a landscape using the information reviewed and learned.

CRP.K-12.CRP6.1	Career-ready individuals regularly think of ideas that solve problems in new and different ways, and they contribute those ideas in a useful and productive manner to improve their organization. They can consider unconventional ideas and suggestions as solutions to issues, tasks or problems, and they discern which ideas and suggestions will add greatest value. They seek new methods, practices, and ideas from a variety of sources and seek to apply those ideas to their own workplace. They take action on their ideas and understand how to bring innovation to an organization.
CRP.K-12.CRP8.1	Career-ready individuals readily recognize problems in the workplace, understand the nature of the problem, and devise effective plans to solve the problem. They are aware of problems when they occur and take action quickly to address the problem; they thoughtfully investigate the root cause of the problem prior to introducing solutions. They carefully consider the options to solve the problem. Once a solution is agreed upon, they follow through to ensure the problem is solved, whether through their own actions or the actions of others.
