Unit Overview

Students will explore the saying, "Necessity is the mother of invention." This unit discusses why people solve problems, and more importantly, how they go about solving them. The students will read a variety of genres and reflect on the lessons that connect back to the big idea.

Enduring Understandings

Students will understand that...

- good problem solvers think about the whole picture. They come up with a plan that makes the most sense and they are eager to learn from their mistakes.
- getting the information we need comes from the resources around us. Presently, the easiest way to obtain the information we need is to consult multiple sources on the internet as well as professionals.
- we investigate questions about nature by conducting research and using scientific tools. We are careful to write notes and recheck our work.
- plans are very helpful when we want to accomplish a task. A plan keeps us organized and focused.
- there are many different reasons people are motivated to accomplish a goal.
- putting a plan into action takes perseverance to make sure all of the parts to the whole are working together towards the main goal.

Essential Questions

- What do good problem solvers do?
- What can you do to get the information you need?
- How do we investigate questions about nature?
- When has a plan helped you accomplish a task?
- What motivates you to accomplish a goal?
- What does it take to put a plan into action?

Exit Skills

By the end of Unit 2: Taking the Next Step, students should be able to...

- ask and answer questions about a text.
- demonstrate understanding of text structure (compare and contrast, problem and solution, sequence).
- demonstrate knowledge of taught skills and strategies of the unit.
- expand on knowledge of vocabulary.
- use key details to find the main idea and theme.
- describe how the author supports opinions in the text.
- write sentences about the topic/text that has been read.
- identify story elements: character, setting, and plot.
- identify and use nouns properly.
