Unit Overview

The Minecraft units in 6th grade are both an integration with the 6th grade social studies curriculum and a method of practicing proper online behavior. Overall, students follow the progression of the rise of human civilization, from primitive hunter-gatherers, to tribal nomads, to full city-states. Students act within these roles inside of the minecraft server, as guided by the Technology and Social Studies teachers. Along the way, they will learn basic networking topics such as server/client relationships, Internet Protocol addressing, and wifi vs ethernet communications. In addition, they will learn about the concept of communications lag and discuss reasons for lag occurring in online experiences.

This particular section examines two aspects of civilizations -- growth of empires and inter-civilization conflicts. The pupils will further develop their city-state using more extensive resources, eventually competing with rival students for those resources. The students then compare and contrast their online experience in Minecraft with the experiences of people in past civilizations such as the Egyptian, Indian, Chinese, Greek, Persian, or Roman empires.
