Transfer

• • Continue to develop their drawing, observational and problem solving skills, which will contribute to their artistic and creative growth.

• • Critically analyze, describe and evaluate creative works of art in the real world.

• • To become independent thinkers who will contribute inventively and critically to their culture through art making.

Essential Questions

- • Why is it important to define your ideas in visual as well as written explanations?
- • Why is it important to keep sketchbooks and journals?
- Why is observational drawing important?

Essential Understandings

- It is important that an artist continue to draw no matter how adept they may become at it.
- • Observational drawing is very important and integral in college portfolios.

• • The final version of their commentary is submitted with their portfolio.

• • The journal is where the student will keep a record and plan their concentrations in visual as well as written explanations.

- • The journal will keep the ideas in chronological order.
- • The sketchbook and journal entries are an important and integral part of the artistic process.

• • Their commentary is not scored, but provides important information about their work to portfolio evaluators.

• • They need to define ideas early so the work they submit has the focus and direction required for sustained investigation (concentration).

• • They need to record an account of how their work is evolving.

Students Will Know

- • All sketchbook and journal assignments are an expectation and to be completed on time.
- • How to chronicle their concentration ideas in a journal.
- • How to utilize a sketchbook not only for observational drawing, but also as a journal of their artistic process both in writing and through drawing.
- • Observational drawing is important in developing the artist's eye, ability to see and create artwork that communicates meaning.

• • The different pencils and other mediums that can be used in the keeping of a sketchbook and journal.

Students Will Be Skilled At

- Observational drawing.
- • Writing descriptions of their sustained investigations (concentrations).

Evidence/Performance Tasks

- • Complete journal entrees describing their completed concentrations.
- • Complete sketchbook rubrics.
- • Students will complete observational drawings.

Learning Plan

- • Critique and assessment of student sketchbook and journal through teacher/student conference and formal rubric.
- • Every week students will choose a sketchbook subject to be drawn. The assignment subject, due date and size will be noted.
- Hand-outs of sketchbooks, concentration journals and drawing media to students
- • Journals will be handed in with the appropriate concentration on the due date of the concentration.

- • Preview the essential questions and connect to learning throughout the unit.
- • Students will answer the given questions concerning their concentrations in their journal.
- • Students will hand in sketchbook assignments on the due date.
- • Students will keep a journal chronicling their concentrations.
- • Students will receive written material concerning the importance of observational drawing.
- • Students will receive written material explaining the responsibility and expectations associated with the sketchbook and journal.
- • Teacher presentation of prior student sketchbooks and journals.
- • Teacher will explain grading process and rubric.

Materials

Suggested Strategies for Modifications

- • Accommodations of students per their IEP'S and 504's will be considered.
- • Advanced students will be encouraged to produce more artwork.
- • Advanced students will be encouraged to work at a more advanced level.
- Alternative outcome options.
- • Assessment based on individual development in the area of study.
- • Co-operative learning groups.
- • Handouts of notes, procedures, processes, diagrams, etc.
- Images and visual aids.
- • One-to-one instruction and assistance.
- • Reading material modified to student level.
