Art History Part 2 will provide students with an introduction to college coursework in art history. Their explorations will enable them to develop an understanding and knowledge of architecture, sculpture, painting, and other art forms within diverse historical and cultural contexts. It will also provide them with the opportunity to explore an area that is only cursorily explored through other curricula in more depth. They will learn to look at works of art critically, with intelligence and sensitivity, and to analyze what they see.

In this unit, students will explore the Baroque and Rococo art and architecture. They will understand the history and contributions to the development of art and architecture that came out of this era. Students will explore the impact of the political restructuring of Europe, religious conflicts, and establishment of a worldwide mercantile system on the art of this time period.

Essential Questions/Enduring Understandings

How did the Catholic Counter Reformation utilize art as propaganda and how did that affect Europe in general?

Who were the major benefactors of art during this time, and how did their preferences impact the art of the times?

What were the effects of religious, social, and economic conditions on the art of the leading regions of the time period?

The energy and demands of the Catholic Counter-Reformation inspired a new dynamic and spectacular artistic style, Baroque, which is characterized by dramatic theatricality, grandiose scale, and elaborate ornamentation.

Within the general category of Baroque, three sub styles emerged – counter-reformation, aristocratic, and bourgeoisie – in large part due to the social, political, and economic conditions of the time.

Baroque art varied in style from one country to another based upon religious, social, and economic conditions as well as regional traditions and tastes.

The Rococo style was derived from the demands of the aristocratic class for decorative art that depicted the pleasures of their world.
