Transfer

Essential Questions

---

- How does self-evaluation lead to musical improvement?
- What does the evaluation of music do to further our growth as a musician?

Essential Understandings

1. There are specific criteria that all music is evaluated by (i.e. rhythm, tone, melody).
2. Marching ensembles add visual art and motion to musical performance to achieve general effect.
3. Music can be described within the context of culture and time period.
4. Each piece of music has unique characteristics.

- 5. Self-assessment is essential to discovering areas in need of improvement.
- 6. Listening to and analyzing a variety of music will lead to continual development of musicianship.

Students Will Know

- 1. How to use their musical vocabulary in the evaluation of musical performances.
- 2. How to demonstrate acceptable performance practices in both concert and marching ensembles.
- 3. How to apply acceptable performance practices to musical evaluation.
- 4. How to emulate and explore performance practices of various times and cultures.

Students Will Be Skilled At

Evidence/Performance Tasks

---

- What cultural and historical themes are audible and indicative of the geographic area or time period?
- How are accepted performances practices used to evaluate music performances?
- What are acceptable performance practices in marching and concert ensembles?
- What are specific areas in which musical performances can be critiqued?
- What personal and/or artistic objectives should be included in evaluating musical performances?
- What visual aspects of marching ensembles contribute to ensemble effect?

Learning Plan

- Level 5: Students will develop a working vocabulary of musical descriptors for use in evaluating musical performances within concert and marching ensembles. Students will be able to evaluate their own performance within the context of the ensemble and apply their analysis to their performance.
- Note: The teaching sequence for evaluating musical performance begins in grade four and is outlined in the curriculum for 4-7, and eighth grade instrumental music (Halpern/Spatz 05; Halpern/Spatz/Murphy '06). Level five is a continuation of that sequence and is referred to below.
- The students use their musical vocabulary to describe recordings and/or live performances and also to self-evaluate.
- The teacher exposes students to music of varying cultures, styles, and genres.
- The teacher facilitates classroom evaluation of professional musical recordings and performances.
- The teacher facilitates classroom evaluation of the ensemble's performance.
- The teacher leads comparison/contrast exercises of recordings and activities in the classroom environment.
