Transfer

Essential Questions

- • How can a musician improve their instrumental proficiency?
- • How is performing in a jazz ensemble similar to and different from performing in a symphonic, concert, or marching band?
- • What are the mental, physical, and musical similarities and differences of performing in a jazz ensemble?

Essential Understandings

- • although there are common elements of musical theory, the rhythmic, dynamic, melodic and harmonic interpretation of jazz literature is unique when compared to classical literature.
- • Individual practice of fundamentals is needed on a daily basis.
- • Mastery of the “book” is not possible without consistent work on fundamentals.
- • singing is an essential element of musicianship.
- • the physical orientation of how a jazz ensemble is set up relates to the tone production and overall balance of the ensemble.
- • their part, or “book,” is performed only by them and the entire ensemble depends upon their physical, mental, and musical commitment to the ensemble.
- • there are acoustical differences between concert, symphonic, marching, and jazz ensembles that relate to physical space, ensemble size and performance objectives that should be taken into consideration when approaching a rehearsal or performance.
- • varying rehearsal techniques can expose an ensembles weakness or prove its mastery of musical concepts.

Students Will Know

- • demonstrate both aurally and in writing the differences in individual interpretations between common musical elements such as rhythm, dynamics, and articulation.
- • demonstrate the ability to improvise over given harmonic backgrounds.
- • demonstrate understanding of music theory through performance of scales, modes, chord structure, and blues scales.
- • evaluate and critique performances using devised criteria: written; verbal.
- • improvise rhythms and melodies within a desired jazz classification.
- • listen to and describe the musicianship of recording artists in each of the major classifications of jazz music (ragtime, Dixieland, swing, bebop, cool jazz, hard bop, avant-garde, fusion, contemporary).
- • participate in group discussions of the essential questions.
- • perform in public.
- • recreate recorded examples of improvised solos through associated listening activities in the class text as a means of increasing technical facility.
- • sing patterns and articulations.

Students Will Be Skilled At

Learning Plan

- • Create warm-up activities to reinforce necessary considerations that are specific to each musical performance.
- • Discuss and experience the differences between articulation, rhythmic, and dynamic interpretation of jazz performances.
- • Discuss and model jazz theory and improvisation within a particular style of jazz.
- • Discuss the essential questions and key concepts prior to reading, rehearsing, or listening to a recording of jazz.
- • Evaluate performances aurally and through written expression.
- • Group learning activity – Have students create improvised solos within a particular style using learned notation and techniques.
- • Group learning activity – Have students rehearse music in small and large group settings.
- • Identify and discuss essential areas of instrumental proficiency that influence the performance of jazz.
- • Identify and experience acoustical considerations that are unique to the jazz ensemble set up.
- • Listen to standard recordings of various jazz charts that are characteristic of jazz prior to reading or rehearsing a new “chart.”
- • Perform for each other and for the public.
- • Require the students to pass performance exams encompassing fundamentals of instrumental performance.
- • Require the students to pass performance exams specific to the songs they are working on.

- • Sing – “scat sing,” or recreate elements of rhythm and melody away from musical instruments.
- • Writing exercise — Have students write/recreate notated rhythms in various time signatures appropriate to the desired style.

Materials

Suggested Strategies for Modifications

---

- • Have students improvise on songs of varying difficulty to match their level of performance.
- • Have students write solos and exercises appropriate to their individual ability level.
- • Require different levels of fundamental performance based on experience with melodic and harmonic theory.
