- • Why is important to use appropriate language online?
- • How can I navigate the digital world safely and responsibly?

Students Will Know/Students Will Be Skilled At

- • The school rules for using the computer and Internet.
- • Use websites that are appropriate for their age/grade level.
- • Demonstrate proper care of computer equipment.
- • Follow classroom rules for responsible use of computers and other technologies.
- • How to create strong passwords that include numbers, special characters, etc. to keep online accounts safe and secure.
- • How to maintain their privacy while online and the importance of safe passwords.
- • Recognize that the media specialist is ready to help find the answers to questions and help use technologies and online resources.
- • Understand how to search safely online by selecting suitable keywords.
- • Understand that they should never give out private information on the internet.
- • What it means to be a responsible digital citizen.
- • What the difference is between appropriate and inappropriate language online.

Evidence/Performance Tasks

Students demonstrate differentiated proficiency through both formative and summative assessments in the classroom. Based on individual student readiness and performance, assessments can be implemented as formative and/or summative.

Developmental progression across years in media is evidenced through benchmark assessments as part of the media specialist's Student Growth Objective (SGO). Student proficiency allows for additional or alternative assessment based on demonstration or absence of skill.

The performance tasks listed below are examples of the types of assessments teachers may use in the classroom and the data collected by the district to track student progress.

- Benchmark: Digital Badging using Common Sense Media's Digital Passport. Students will demonstrate their ability to be responsible digital citizens through the completion of CSM Digital Passport Password Protect where they must build a strong password and Twalkers were they make media choices while multitasking.
- Formative: Follow computer rules and guidelines.
- Formative: Practice creating strong passwords.

- Formative: Select appropriate digital resources and use responsibly.
- Formative: Visit websites safely.
- Summative: Articulate general "good" media rules/choices to follow.
- Summative: Evaluate a password for its strengths/weaknesses.

Learning Plan

Media Specialists may personalize instruction during this unit and address the distinct learning needs, interests, aspirations, or cultural backgrounds of individual students.

Media Specialists at the elementary level design their own unique lesson plans in order to incorporate the essential questions provided in this unit. The order in which this information is presented is dependent upon the variables specific to each elementary school community.

With assistance, fourth grade students will practice responsible, legal, safe, and ethical uses of information resources and technology. Suggested activities are listed below for this unit:

- Good Digital Citizen Introduction (Common Sense Media Unit)
- E.Q. - How can we be upstanders when we see cyberbullying?

Online tools are empowering for kids, and they also come with big responsibilities. But do kids always know what to do when they encounter cyberbullying? Show your students appropriate ways to take action and resolve conflicts, from being upstanders to helping others in need.

- Media Choices (Common Sense Media Unit)
- E.Q. - What makes a healthy media choice?

We all make choices every day about the media we consume and create. But do kids understand what makes a media choice healthy or not? Hint: It's about more than just screen time. Use the activities in this lesson to give kids a framework for making informed media choices.

- Talking Safely Online (Google Slides)
- E.Q. - What is the difference between internet friends and in-person friends?

Students visit sites that request information about their identity and learn to protect themselves and their families from identity theft. Students learn to think critically about the user information that some websites request or require. They will learn the difference between private information and personal information, distinguishing what is safe and unsafe to share online. It's in our students' nature to share and connect with others. But sharing online comes with some risks. How can we help kids build strong, positive, and safe relationships online? Help your students learn the difference between what's personal and what's best left private.

- Creating Strong Passwords (Common Sense Media Unit)

- E.Q. - How can a strong password help protect your privacy?

Stronger, more secure online passwords are a good idea for everyone. But how can we help kids create better passwords and actually remember them? Use the tips in this lesson to help kids make passwords that are both secure and memorable.

Alternate Lesson:

- A Creator's Rights and Responsibilities (Common Sense Media Unit)
- E.Q. - What rights and responsibilities do you have as a creator?

It's common for kids to use images they find online, for school projects or just for fun. But kids don't often understand which images are OK to use and which ones aren't. Help your students learn about the rights and responsibilities they have when it comes to the images they create and use.

- Demonstrate how to access age appropriate pre-selected online resources.
- Discuss how we can use manners to have appropriate and polite conversations online.
- Discuss personal information and private information so that students understand that personal information is relatable hobbies, interests, etc. that many people can have vs. private information identifies an individual specifically such as full names, address, date of birth, etc. that is information individuals must protect and share only with trusted family members, and appropriate entities such as doctors offices etc.
- Discuss responsibilities students hold in their homes, classrooms, on teams, etc. and connect those responsibilities to those we have online.
- Introduce key vocabulary: community, digital citizen, responsibility, personal information, private information, media, media balance, choices, grieving, online video game, social interaction
- Model how to use appropriate language in online communications.
- Model ways to share personal information to connect and build online relationships without oversharing.
- Preview the essential questions and connect to learning throughout the unit.
