Persuasive and Expository Writing

Content Area: English Language Arts

Course(s): Time Period:

Marking Period 1 7-8 Weeks

Length: 7-8 Weeks Status: Published

Brief Summary of Unit

Summary: This class will provide students with the individualized support, skills, and remediation necessary to successfully respond to the writing tasks on a standardized test. The standardized tests referenced in this unit will include the PARCC, ACUPLACER, PSAT and SAT.

Interdisciplinary Connections and Career Readiness: This unit is designed to be part of a developmental progression across grade levels and make interdisciplinary connections across content areas including physical and social sciences, technology, career readiness, cultural awareness, and global citizenship. During this course, students are provided with opportunities to develop skills that pertain to a variety of careers. When completing this course, students can make informed choices and pursue electives that further their study and contribute toward the formation of career interest.

Revision: June 2023

Evidence/Performance Tasks

Developmental progression across years in both reading and writing is evidenced by multiple benchmark assessment screeners, administered two times per year. Follow up diagnostic assessments are used to target skill remediation. Student proficiency allows for additional or alternative assessment based on demonstration or absence of skill.

Students demonstrate differentiated proficiency through both formative and summative assessments in the classroom. Based on individual student readiness and performance, assessments can be implemented as formative and/or summative.

The performance tasks listed below are examples of the types of assessments teachers may use in the classroom and the data collected by the district to track student progress.

Formative:

- Teacher Observations
- Accountable Talk, Socratic Seminars/Fish Bowls
- Analysis of multimodal text sets
- Analysis of critical commentary, literary criticism
- Writers Notebook (quick writes/drafts/prewrites), emphasizing author's craft
- Close reading analysis of text using evidence as substantiation
- Conferences: Individual and small group, accompanying conference notes
- Reflective exercises and assessments
- Oral Reading and Interpretation
- Peer and self-evaluations of learning
- Entrance and Exit Tickets
- Open-Ended Responses in Journal
- Textual Analysis Reading Responses
- Dialectical Journal
- Rhetorical Precis
- SOAPSTone Analysis

Summative:

- On-demand Writing Assessments, timed and untimed
- Researched Presentations
- Performance Assessments
- Project-based Learning
- Problem-based Learning
- Personalized Learning
- Visual Literacy Prompts

- Digital Portfolios
- Online Discussion Forums
- Analytical and Expository Essay
- Modeled after the Constructed Response Task (CRT) for Reading Literature, student-prompts are scored on the constructs reading comprehension and written expression as well as knowledge of language and conventions.
- Prose Constructed Response (PCR) from released PARCC assessments
- Reading Information Passage from released PARCC assessments
- Research-Simulation Task (RST) from released PARCC assessments
- Sample sections from the SAT, PSAT, Accuplacer and ASVAB are administered, scored, and reviewed.
- Students complete PARCC tasks as preparation for their NJDOE-approved portfolio submission.

Learning Plan

The intent is for student-readers to have clear modeling through whole-class instruction. These strategies are practiced in a group setting of peers and through independent practice monitored through teacher conferencing with students. An emphasis will be based on the transfer of skills instruction, teaching the reader, not merely the content of the text. The text complexity and rigor of reading will be appropriate for the grade level; materials selection for whole-class will be from the book list approved by the Board of Education.

The reading of text targets not only comprehension, but also analysis. Students will read both long-and short-form, excerpted and full-length, print and electronic, fiction and nonfiction texts. Study will include the analysis of visual texts including film clips, art, infographic, maps, charts, graphs, cartoons, graphic novels. Technique and terminology specific to a genre of reading is examined. Vocabulary instruction may be chosen from the reading material and may be incorporated through targeted word study lessons.

Students write in all modes of rhetoric including narration/description, argument/persuasion, and exposition. Various forms of writing including digital writing are emphasized as well. Grammar instruction is embedded in writing instruction through Sentence Study, holding students accountable for skills taught and practiced; modeling is done through mentor texts, both published and student-crafted. Students may complete analytical analysis, persuasive writing, synthesis essays, database research, and journal writing. Teachers focus on process in addition to product with an emphasis on synthesizing texts with nuanced understanding; teacher-created multimodal text sets will be used as materials. High-and low-stakes, timed and untimed pieces are all important.

Students will be taught how to speak and listen in addition to being assessed on these skills.

Teachers may personalize instruction during this unit and address the distinct learning needs, interests, aspirations, or cultural backgrounds of individual students. Personalized Learning allows students to self-reflect and assess their own reading, writing, listening, viewing and speaking skills through the development of an electronic portfolio, journal writing, writer's notebook, independent reading, and/or book talks.

- Model the strategies for crafting the introduction and thesis statement of the essay.
- · Answer the essential and guiding questions.
- Assign supporting paragraphs of the essay with particular attention to topic sentences.
