Brief Summary of Unit

ELD standards:<https://docs.google.com/document/d/1wdmsiGOdCHlrjU-WPvAtENnEgi0EStZXo0uiFYv1Nu4/edit>

All music is created and exists within the social structure of a time period and culture. Students will recognize the fact that music-making affects and is affected by the society in which it is written and performed. The class will explore how these facts influence the way music is interpreted today.

Essential Questions

- How do personal values and social mores affect music and our reactions to music?
- How and why do historical and cultural influences affect musical performance?
- How can we uncover and discover the intent of and influences on a composer?
- What are the historical time periods of Western music and how can each be characterized?
- What are some of the various nonWestern music styles, what do they sound like, and how can they affect our performances?
- What are some of the various styles of 20th and 21st Century popular and how do they affect our performances and our opinions?

Students Will Know/Be Skilled At

- The style of music they perform and how to accurately portray that style in performance.
- The historical background of the music they perform including information about the time period, composer, and his influences.

- How to respect and respond to cultural diversity within music.
- Music is closely related to the time period of its composer and its country/region of influence or origin.
- Discovering and identifying the influences of a composer can lead to a higher level of understanding and performance.
- All types of music have inherent styles which must be reflected in effective performance.
- It is the responsibility of the performer to convey an interpretation to the audience based on informed musical decisions.

Learning Plan

- Students and teacher identify the origin of a piece of music and locate and discuss relevant historical and cultural information that will enhance the understanding and performance of the music.
- Students and teacher discuss the elements of music from the specific styles and time periods of the music which the class performs.
- Students experience musical examples via recordings, live performances, etc. in which students will identify historical and cultural elements of the music. What is the time period? What is the style? What culture? How do you know?
- Students write and reflect about the historical and cultural influences upon them, their music, and the music they perform in class.
- Teacher will reinforce historical and cultural concepts in rehearsal of the choral repertoire.

Evidence/Performance Tasks

- Identify musical time periods within choral repertoire.
- Dialogue about music using knowledge of historical, cultural, and current social mores.
- Evaluate performances (individual, corporate, and those of other performing groups) for accuracy and effectiveness of style and cultural interpretation.
- Write and reflect on music based upon knowledge, opinions, and personal beliefs.
- Perform music with cultural and stylistic awareness and integrity.

Materials
