

Unit 1: What is an Entrepreneur?

Content Area: Business Management and Information
Course(s):
Time Period: Marking Period 1
Length: 4-5 Weeks
Status: Published

Summary

The Entrepreneurship class is designed to foster creativity, critical thinking, and problem-solving, instilling in students the ability to identify opportunities and navigate challenges faced by entrepreneurs and immersing them in the practical aspects of ideation, business planning, and market analysis. Moreover, the Entrepreneurship course encourages collaboration, communication, and adaptability, essential attributes in an ever-evolving business landscape. In nurturing an entrepreneurial mindset, students end the course by presenting a hypothetical business plan where they apply skills learned throughout the course.

In this unit, students learn what it takes to become an entrepreneur and the skills necessary to do so. They will learn the benefits and the risks involved in starting their own business and the endless possibilities that exist. By the end of the unit, they will have foundational skills to assess the extent to which a business plan or idea might be successful and how to mitigate risk.

Students in Business Management and Information Systems classes develop skills that are intended to give them a competitive advantage in the workplace. Through the study of core business topics and current events, this curriculum encourages students to refine their speaking and listening skills, collaborate with their peers, and explore and research potential career paths.

This unit is aligned to the English Language Development (ELD) standards for kindergarten through grade 12 since multilingual learners develop content and language concurrently, with academic content in a classroom where the language of instruction is English. As a result, language learning and language as a means for learning academic content are interchangeable. The following ELD standards are relevant for this unit and course of study:

- Standard 1: Language for Social and Instructional Purposes: English language learners communicate for social and instructional purposes within the school setting.

LA.W.9-10.2	Write informative/explanatory texts to examine and convey complex ideas, concepts, and information clearly and accurately through the effective selection, organization, and analysis of content.
LA.W.9-10.7	Conduct short as well as more sustained research projects to answer a question (including a self-generated question) or solve a problem; narrow or broaden the inquiry when appropriate; synthesize multiple sources on the subject, demonstrating understanding of the subject under investigation.
LA.W.9-10.8	Gather relevant information from multiple authoritative print and digital sources, using advanced searches effectively; assess the usefulness of each source in answering the research question; integrate information into the text selectively to maintain the flow of ideas, avoiding plagiarism and following a standard format for citation (MLA or APA Style Manuals).
LA.RI.9-10.1	Accurately cite strong and thorough textual evidence, (e.g., via discussion, written response, etc.) and make relevant connections, to support analysis of what the text says explicitly as well as inferentially, including determining where the text leaves matters uncertain.
LA.RI.9-10.2	Determine a central idea of a text and analyze how it is developed and refined by specific details; provide an objective summary of the text.
LA.RI.9-10.4	Determine the meaning of words and phrases as they are used in a text, including figurative, connotative, and technical meanings; analyze the cumulative impact of specific word choices on meaning and tone (e.g., how the language of a court opinion differs from that of a newspaper).
LA.SL.9-10.1	Initiate and participate effectively in a range of collaborative discussions (one-on-one, in groups, and teacher-led) with peers on grades 9–10 topics, texts, and issues, building on others' ideas and expressing their own clearly and persuasively.
PFL.9.1.12.A.5	Analyze how the economic, social, and political conditions of a time period can affect the labor market.
PFL.9.1.12.A.6	Summarize the financial risks and benefits of entrepreneurship as a career choice.

Assessment

When taking a Business course, students demonstrate differentiated proficiency according to their ability to answer the essential questions through formative and summative assessments. Many of the performance tasks below can be implemented as formative and/or summative assessments. As teachers strive for students to demonstrate proficiency, they will need to create additional or alternative assessments based on demonstration or absence of skill.

Formative Assessment:

- Exit tickets, on-going Socratic questioning and checks for understanding

Summative Assessments:

- Initial stages of business plan
- Unit Test

Alternative Assessment:

- Famous entrepreneur project and presentation

Benchmark Assessment:

- DECA case studies

These additional strategies are helpful when learning Business Management and Information Systems content and skills:

- Highlighter for close reading and annotation strategies
- Bolded terms in directions
- Reading texts aloud for students to assist in comprehension and analysis
- Providing opportunities for text-to-speech for written responses.

- Using visual presentations of all materials and including graphic organizers when possible.
