

Theater through Culture

Content Area: Fine Arts
Course(s):
Time Period: Marking Period 1
Length: 1 Quarter
Status: Published

Brief Summary of Unit

---

In this unit, students will explore the historical and cultural contexts theater has developed from and discuss these impacts on contemporary theater.

Revised: June 2023

Essential Questions

---

- How did theater begin?
- What do contemporary audiences expect theater to look like?
- How did today's theatrical conventions develop?

Enduring Understandings

- Theater began through religious practice and as a way to honor mythological gods.
- Contemporary theater is typically realistic, one or two acts, performed in a proscenium arch, and tells a linear story.
- Theater has, over time, become more accessible to the masses and therefore more reflective of the common experience.

Students Will Know/ Students Will be Skilled At

---

Students will know:

- Touchstones of contemporary theatre including realism, plot structure, and the use of space
- The origins of theater and how theatre was used to honor gods

- The overall arc of theater history, from the Ancient Greeks to theater of today

Students will be skilled at:

- Recognizing touchstones of today's theater
- Recognizing elements of theater that have existed since the beginning
- Recognizing elements of theater that developed in later decades

Learning Plan

---

- Discuss essential questions
- Discuss mythology and ancient approaches to religion and ceremony
- Discuss theater the students have seen and what they expect when they're seeing a play/musical
- In small groups, create a checklist of what students expect from theater, then compare across groups to find commonalities and create a universal checklist
- Discuss and experience examples of unity of time, place, and plot.
- Discuss and experience examples where unity of time, place, and/or plot are not adhered to.
- Discuss realism and what makes a play/musical realistic
- Present an arc of theater history beginning with the Greeks and Romans focusing on gods, Shakespeare's focus on royalty and nobility, Ibsen's focus on landowners, to the modern approach where anyone can be a protagonist
- Write and present a skit that adheres to two of the three unities

Evidence/ Performance Tasks

Fine and Performing Arts students demonstrate differentiated proficiency according to their ability to answer the essential questions through formative and summative assessments. Evidence of progression may be demonstrated in divergent ways through the Artistic Processes of Creating, Performing/ Presenting/ Producing, Connecting, and Responding.

- Discussion of essential questions

- Observation of understanding through discussion and process
- Discussion and demonstration of unities in their skit
- Presentation of their skit and ability to recognize unities in others
- Turn and talk
- Self-assessment
- Student explanation of what they see and feel
- Independence assessed by grade level

Materials

The materials used in this course allow for integration of a variety of instructional, supplemental, and intervention materials that support student learners at all levels in the school and home environments. Associated web content and media sources are infused into the unit as applicable and available.
