

Fundamentals - Reading NonFiction

Content Area: English Language Arts
Course(s): Generic Course
Time Period: 6 weeks
Length: 6-8 Weeks
Status: Published

Unit Overview

Nonfiction is a rich, engaging genre offering a variety of topics that will entice any reader! Students will spend a great deal of time in school (and their lives outside of school) reading nonfiction, from newspaper articles to textbooks, from recipes to biographies, from travel brochures to informational web sites. Reading nonfiction is empowering. So often students feel like “experts” about the topics or subjects they have read about.

Nonfiction reading sparks students’ curiosity and opens their eyes to new worlds and different points of view. Nonfiction has so much to offer readers and is an essential genre to study.

Part of the magic in any unit of study is exposing students to possibilities within a genre. By reading and studying three types of nonfiction (reference, literary, and biography), students will develop an understanding of various forms, features, and purposes of nonfiction. Their reading of nonfiction texts will be enhanced by an understanding of the structure, layout, and text features associated with each particular type of nonfiction writing. Common conventions and features enable authors to make their ideas and information clear and accessible to readers. Nonfiction writers stir the imagination and write in vivid, engaging styles. Students will enjoy the aesthetic features of nonfiction texts, while appreciating the clear and accurate information and the presentation of facts.

Nonfiction reading often leads to inquiry. Students have a natural curiosity and wonder about many things. Nonfiction texts encourage students to closely observe and learn about all that is around them. Students will develop passions for locating information, finding answers, and deepening their understanding about the nonfiction topics they are reading and learning about. This unit will help students learn and apply specific reading skills and strategies that will enable them to discover facts, identify big ideas, and learn new information about the topics they are reading about. It will also address the challenges of reading nonfiction, as well as ways to work through difficult text—essential skills for any reader.

Transfer

Students will be able to independently use their learning to...

-What kinds of long term, independent accomplishments are desired?

- Read a variety of types of nonfiction, including reference, literary nonfiction, and biography;
- Use knowledge of genre, text structure, and text features to support understanding;
- Use comprehension strategies before, during, and after reading to monitor and deepen comprehension;
- Employ a repertoire of strategies and self-monitoring skills to figure out unfamiliar vocabulary while reading;
- Use textual evidence to support thinking about nonfiction reading in both conversation and writing;
- Infer an author’s purpose or viewpoint;
- Summarize and synthesize information to determine important ideas;
- Analyze the impact of the author’s language choices on the meaning and tone of the text;
- Analyze and evaluate arguments presented in nonfiction texts;

- Synthesize and compare information across texts and in various formats (e.g., print, visual); and
- Determine and pursue meaningful goals for enhancing the reading of nonfiction.

Meaning

Understandings

Students will understand that...

Students will understand that by reading a variety of nonfiction texts, including reference, literary nonfiction, and biography, it will enhance their ability to summarize and synthesize information to determine important ideas of a text.

Students will also learn apply knowledge of genre, text structure, text features to support understanding as well as use comprehension strategies before, during and after to monitor and deepen comprehension.

Essential Questions

Students will keep considering...

-What thought provoking questions will foster inquiry, meaning making and transfer?

- What is the topic?
- What connections can I make to this topic or across books?
- What do I know about the topic or about the person?
- What text features will help me learn more information?

Application of Knowledge and Skill

Students will know...

Students will know...

Students will know how to make connections and retrieve and activate prior knowledge to connect to what is known and deepen understanding of the texts as they read.

Students will know how to use prior knowledge and textual information to draw conclusions, make predictions, and form opinions.

Students will know how to identify key ideas themes or topics and distinguish between important and unimportant information.

Students will be skilled at...

Students will be skilled at...

*determining importance using text features, cues and structures to identify key ideas and important information *making inferences using prior knowledge and textual information to draw conclusions, make predictions and analyze texts

*synthesizing-combining textual information with existing knowledge to summarize texts or form new ideas or opinions

Learning Goal 1

Students will build schema

Students will understand the different types of fiction.

Students will learn that the purpose of all types of fiction is to inform readers.

Skills and Strategies:

- *Using Text and Genre Features/Structures

- *Determining Importance

- *Making Inferences

- *Finding Word Meaning (Vocabulary)

- *Synthesizing

LA.RI.5.1	Quote accurately from a text and make relevant connections when explaining what the text says explicitly and when drawing inferences from the text.
LA.RI.5.2	Determine two or more main ideas of a text and explain how they are supported by key details; summarize the text.
LA.RI.5.3	Explain the relationships or interactions between two or more individuals, events, ideas, or concepts in a historical, scientific, or technical text based on specific information in the text.
LA.RI.5.4	Determine the meaning of general academic and domain-specific words and phrases in a text relevant to a grade 5 topic or subject area.
LA.RI.5.5	Compare and contrast the overall structure (e.g., chronology, comparison, cause/effect, problem/solution) of events, ideas, concepts, or information in two or more texts.
LA.RI.5.6	Analyze multiple accounts of the same event or topic, noting important similarities and differences in the point of view they represent.
LA.RI.5.7	Draw on information from multiple print or digital sources, demonstrating the ability to locate an answer to a question quickly or to solve a problem efficiently.
LA.RI.5.8	Explain how an author uses reasons and evidence to support particular points in a text, identifying which reasons and evidence support which point(s).
LA.RI.5.9	Integrate and reflect on (e.g., practical knowledge, historical/cultural context, and background knowledge) information from several texts on the same topic in order to write or speak about the subject knowledgeably.
LA.RI.5.10	By the end of year, read and comprehend literary nonfiction at grade level text-complexity or above, with scaffolding as needed.

IRA 1 Target: Introduction to Nonfiction

Readers need to understand the significance of nonfiction and how the genre is different from fiction.

- Students will learn about the different types of nonfiction and the unique elements within various texts.

Formative Assessment Opportunities

Chalkboard Splash

Numerous students respond to a prompt/question on the chalkboard or whiteboard at the same time.

Pose the question. "What did we notice about Non-Fiction?"

Conference Questions:

Why is it important that we activate our prior knowledge before we read a nonfiction text?

How does activating prior knowledge help us understand new information?

Why is it important to ask questions before, during and after reading?

IRA 2 Target: The Look of Reference Nonfiction

Readers of reference nonfiction identify textual features and use them to locate and sort information.

- Students will pay attention to common features to help them navigate and make meaning of texts.

LA.RI.5.7	Draw on information from multiple print or digital sources, demonstrating the ability to locate an answer to a question quickly or to solve a problem efficiently.
LA.RI.5.10	By the end of year, read and comprehend literary nonfiction at grade level text-complexity or above, with scaffolding as needed.

Formative Assessment Opportunities

At the beginning of the teaching phase the teacher could ask students to work with a partner to create a definition of an assigned text structure. Students will be given a variety of books containing a variety of text structures. Partners can share their definitions with the class, and will show an example of their assigned structure from the book. Teacher will be able to monitor student understanding and identification of text structures.

Conference Questions:

What are some text features that you notice?

How did they help you build your knowledge before reading?

How can text features help deepen our understanding before, during, and after reading?

How did text features help you deepen your understanding of your independent reading text? Can you show those features and discuss what you learned from them?

IRA 3 Target: Structures of Nonfiction

Readers of nonfiction read with an awareness of text structures that assist them in deepening their understanding.

- Students will identify and understand different text structures to comprehend nonfiction texts.

or above, with scaffolding as needed.

Mini-Lesson 1 Target: The Process of Reading Nonfiction

Readers approach nonfiction texts with a consistent process to build understanding.

- Students will use questioning to activate background knowledge and build understanding during and after the read.

LA.RL.5.1	Quote accurately from a text, and make relevant connections when explaining what the text says explicitly and when drawing inferences from the text.
LA.RL.5.10	By the end of the year, read and comprehend literature, including stories, dramas, and poems at grade level text-complexity or above, with scaffolding as needed.

Formative Assessment Opportunities

Mini-Lesson 2 Target: Navigating Nonfiction

: Readers of nonfiction use the features on the page to familiarize themselves with a topic and build schema prior to reading a text.

- Students will use text features to build their understanding and deepen their comprehension.

LA.RL.5.1	Quote accurately from a text, and make relevant connections when explaining what the text says explicitly and when drawing inferences from the text.
LA.RL.5.7	Analyze how visual and multimedia elements contribute to the meaning, tone, or beauty of a text (e.g., graphic novel, multimedia presentation of fiction, folktale, myth, poem).
LA.RL.5.10	By the end of the year, read and comprehend literature, including stories, dramas, and poems at grade level text-complexity or above, with scaffolding as needed.

Formative Assessment Opportunities

Mini-Lesson 3 Target: Determining the Main Idea

Readers of nonfiction must be able to distinguish between ordinate and subordinate information.

- Students will identify the main idea and supporting details in a selected text.

-----------	---

LA.RI.5.2	Determine two or more main ideas of a text and explain how they are supported by key details; summarize the text.
LA.RI.5.10	By the end of year, read and comprehend literary nonfiction at grade level text-complexity or above, with scaffolding as needed.

Formative Assessment Opportunities

Mini-Lesson 4 Target: Problem and Solution Text Structure

Readers of nonfiction understand that facts and information are organized in different structures.

- Students will use text clues, or signal words, to identify the problem and solution structure and support comprehension.

LA.RL.5.2	Determine the key details in a story, drama or poem to identify the theme and to summarize the text.
LA.RL.5.5	Explain how a series of chapters, scenes, or stanzas fits together to provide the overall structure of a particular story, drama, or poem.
LA.RL.5.10	By the end of the year, read and comprehend literature, including stories, dramas, and poems at grade level text-complexity or above, with scaffolding as needed.

Mini-Lesson 5 Target: Cause and Effect Text Structure

Readers of nonfiction understand that facts and information are organized in different structures.

- Students will use text clues, or signal words, to identify the cause and effect structure and support comprehension.

LA.RL.5.2	Determine the key details in a story, drama or poem to identify the theme and to summarize the text.
LA.RL.5.5	Explain how a series of chapters, scenes, or stanzas fits together to provide the overall structure of a particular story, drama, or poem.
LA.RL.5.10	By the end of the year, read and comprehend literature, including stories, dramas, and poems at grade level text-complexity or above, with scaffolding as needed.

Mini-Lesson 6 Target: Chronological Structure

Readers of nonfiction read biographies with the understanding that they are usually organized chronologically.

- Students will identify key events that illustrate the significance of a featured person's life.

-----------	---

LA.RI.5.5	Compare and contrast the overall structure (e.g., chronology, comparison, cause/effect, problem/solution) of events, ideas, concepts, or information in two or more texts.
LA.RI.5.10	By the end of year, read and comprehend literary nonfiction at grade level text-complexity or above, with scaffolding as needed.

Formative Assessment Opportunities

Mini-Lesson 9 Target: Dealing With Difficulty

Readers of nonfiction monitor for understanding and use fix-up strategies to clear up confusion.

- Students will focus on identifying confusion and using fix-up strategies in order to repair comprehension.

LA.RI.5.2	Determine two or more main ideas of a text and explain how they are supported by key details; summarize the text.
LA.RI.5.10	By the end of year, read and comprehend literary nonfiction at grade level text-complexity or above, with scaffolding as needed.

Mini-Lesson 10 Target: Growing Our Thinking

Readers of nonfiction expand their knowledge of a topic by reading a variety of texts about the same topic and integrating key information from those texts.

- Students will visit two texts about a shared topic and sort through similarities and differences to develop big ideas about the topic.

LA.RI.5.6	Analyze multiple accounts of the same event or topic, noting important similarities and differences in the point of view they represent.
LA.RI.5.8	Explain how an author uses reasons and evidence to support particular points in a text, identifying which reasons and evidence support which point(s).
LA.RI.5.9	Integrate and reflect on (e.g., practical knowledge, historical/cultural context, and background knowledge) information from several texts on the same topic in order to write or speak about the subject knowledgeably.
LA.RI.5.10	By the end of year, read and comprehend literary nonfiction at grade level text-complexity or above, with scaffolding as needed.
