Unit Overview

In this unit, students will study civilizations and empires in the Fertile Crescent.

Transfer

Students will consider

- the differences between hunter-gatherer societies and the ancient Sumerians.
- their experiences about a system of writing they may have tried to learn, such as calligraphy.
- examples of being treated "unfairly" and the meaning of "an eye for an eye."
- how different civilizations form communities, trade for goods, and create art and architecture.
- how geography affects where people live and list ways that people adapt to different places.

Meaning

Understandings

---

The students will demonstrate the following enduring understandings:

- cultural practices can be passed along through trade even after a civilization has disappeared.
- geography affects the way civilizations develop.
- technological innovations can enable one group to conquer another group.

Essential Questions

Students will keep considering...

- What are the consequences of technology?

Application of Knowledge and Skill

Students will know...

---

Students will know...

- Sumer had a class system in which priests and kings held power.
- Assyrians and Persians created and governed vast empires.
- Hammurabi's Code defined laws that united the empire.
- Mesopotamian cultures made lasting contributions to the arts.
- Phoenicians spread Mesopotamian civilization through ocean trade.
- Sargon conquered Sumerian city-states to create an empire.
- The Fertile Crescent sustained the first known civilization.
- The Phoenician alphabet was a significant contribution.

Students will be skilled at...

Students will be able to:

- analyze causes and effects of the first empires.
- categorize information to conduct a Phoenician trade exercise.
- draw conclusions about Hammurabi's Code and its impact on modern laws.
- identify and create a modern "standard."
- identify main ideas and details about the Standard of Ur.
- summarize how Assyrian and Persian empires were governed.
- summarize information about the Phoenicians.
- work in teams to plan Babylon's restoration.
