Intersections of History

The traditions and customs of individuals of varying races, cultures, religions and orientations have shaped our world; Students will develop and build upon global awareness through current and past events. In this section students will build upon their knowledge of the American People and how diverse we are as a whole.

Black: Students will read All Are Welcome, a story about a diverse and inclusive school community, where everyone's traditions are not just tolerated but celebrated.

Hispanic: Students will read the story Sing, Don't Cry by Angela Dominguez and explore the Mexican song. In this story students will see that pain and loss are universal as the grandfather shares in voice and guitar to share his wisdom.

Women: Students will read the story Pocahontas Princess of the New World by Kathleen Krull. They will discover the fearless Native American that she was. Students will see the culture Native Americans left in North America.

LGBTQ: Students will read the story A Family Is A Family, Is a Family by Sara O'Leary and see that there are many different kinds of families. The traditional family is not the only family that exists. This will help students feel comfortable with the family that they have in their home.
