Assessments

Please Note: Assessments can be on-going and/or through student conferences too. Daily student writing samples can be used to assess any particular skills or overall writing ability. Your assessment does NOT need to be centered on a single continuous piece of writing, but rather multiple writings to give the students daily practice. The Formative and Summative assessments listed below are just suggestions for your consideration.

Formative Assessments

December 7 – Overview of Informative/Explanatory Writing (W.4.2, W.4.4, W.4.10)

Skills to Assess: Understanding the purpose and structure of informative/explanatory texts.

Assessment Type: Exit ticket or quick write summarizing the purpose and structure of informative/explanatory writing.

December 14 – Introducing a Topic Clearly (W.4.2A, W.4.9B)

Skills to Assess: Ability to introduce a topic clearly and group related information in paragraphs and sections, using formatting and multimedia.

Assessment Type: Short draft of an introductory paragraph with formatting and multimedia, followed by peer review using a checklist.

December 21 – Research and Planning (W.4.7, W.4.6)

Skills to Assess: Research skills, note-taking, and organizing information.

Assessment Type: Research notes and outline submission for feedback on organization and information gathering.
