Unit1 (Weeks 2-5)

Eagles Up Close- In this lesson, students identify main ideas and supporting details as they read. They write paragraphs about what they learned about eagles and observe eagles up close. They demonstrate active listening by answering riddles with moderate support and use nouns in simple sentence patterns

Horses Up Close- In this lesson, students use informational text features to locate and learn information. They illustrate and write paragraphs about horses. They support opinions about work animals, use synonyms and antonyms to create precision and shades of meaning while speaking, and learn suffixes to determine the meaning of words.

At Risk! - In this lesson, students learn about endangered and at-risk animals and plants by reading and analyzing charts, graphs, and maps. Students write about human involvement in endangered wildlife habitats and display the results of a survey. They contribute politely to discussions and identify the effect alliteration produces on the audience.

Owl Acrostics -In this lesson, students describe how well an author uses language to present ideas in an acrostic poem, use descriptive detail to write interview questions and answers, and write acrostic poems. Students use a growing number of general academic words to create precision while speaking, and they identify, explain, and use metaphors.

Unit2 (Week 7-10)

Ponds - In this lesson, students describe a sequence of events in a pond ecosystem, write opinion pieces, and create posters explaining the water cycle. They adjust language according to purpose, task, and audience, and they expand sentences with adjectives.

Oceans- In this lesson, students use textual evidence to support opinions, and they support opinions in writing using facts from the text. They create signs encouraging people to care for the ocean. They express ideas using basic modal expressions (may, must, can, should) and use the simple present tense.

Escape From Pacaya - In this lesson, students distinguish literal from figurative language, write narratives about the response of the father to the volcanic eruption, and learn that some natural hazards are preceded by phenomena that allow forecasting. They contribute to partner discussions, affirming others, and they learn and use academic action verbs.

Fires- In this lesson, students use content-related vocabulary to present ideas, write concise summaries of texts, and share how people can prepare for natural disasters. They express accurate reasons to support opinions and join ideas using transitional words and phrases.
