

March WRITING: Personal Narratives

Content Area: English
Course(s):
Time Period: March
Length: 6-8 Weeks
Status: Published

Unit Overview

Text Type: Narrative

Personal narratives tell the big and small stories of our lives. Personal narratives are typically the easiest, most natural form of writing for children because the stories are already complete inside their minds, which enables the words to flow more easily onto the paper. It is this easy flow of words that supports students' efforts to produce a complete piece of writing. This allows teachers more opportunities to help students refine their writing because they better understand the heart of their pieces. As teachers surround students with this natural, life-enriching genre, wonderful opportunities will be presented for students to make connections with themselves and others. Constructing meaningful personal narratives helps students discover important things about who they are and what they hope to be like in the future. This type of writing also helps students make sense of their life experiences and discover that others may share similar experiences, even when they may have little else in common.

Enduring Understandings

Personal narratives are a form of writing that allows the writer to tell stories from their own lives. They help the writer tell the readers about who they are and what they know and feel.

Essential Questions

How do authors tell their stories through personal narratives, and what process and techniques do they use to create successful narrative writing?

Instructional Strategies & Learning Activities

uses The Day of Ahmed's Secret by Florence P. Heide and Judith Heide Gilliland, Jamaica Louise James by Amy Hest, The Keeping Quilt by Patricia Polacco, Looking Back by Lois Lowry, and Snapshots from the Wedding by Gary Soto.

Rationale: The decision a writer makes when selecting a story for further development is often based on a strong feeling that there is more to be said about the topic. Students will reread the entries in their Writers' Notebooks and select an idea or topic that they feel passionate about and would like to develop into a story.
Common Core State Standards: W.2.3, W.2.5, W.2.7, W.2.8, SL.2.1, SL.2.2, SL.2.3, SL.2.4, SL.2.6, L.2.1, L.2.2, L.2.6

Collecting I: Gathering More Information

uses How My Parents Learned to Eat by Ina R. Friedman.

Rationale: As writers begin to examine closely the stories of their lives, they may find the need to gather more information to support what they already know. Students will consider strategies to collect more details and gain a better understanding of their whole story.

Common Core State Standards: W.2.3, W.2.5, W.2.7, W.2.8, SL.2.1, SL.2.2, SL.2.3, SL.2.4, SL.2.5, SL.2.6, L.2.1, L.2.2, L.2.6

Collecting II: The Inside Story

uses Up North at the Cabin by Marsha Wilson Chall.

Rationale: When writing a personal narrative, writers often reveal their inner thoughts and feelings, or the "inside story" of their pieces. Students will consider their personal thoughts and feelings about the events and experiences surrounding their topics and how they might incorporate these into their writing.

Common Core State Standards: W.2.3, W.2.5, W.2.8, SL.2.1, SL.2.2, SL.2.3, SL.2.4, SL.2.6, L.2.1, L.2.2, L.2.6

Collecting III: What's the Sense?

uses Owl Moon by Jane Yolen.

Rationale: Writers often gather details from the memories of their senses to help them add dimension and interest to a story. Students will think about the senses they experienced related to the events of their stories and how they might include interesting words and details that describe them.

Common Core State Standards: W.2.3, W.2.5, W.2.8, SL.2.1, SL.2.2, SL.2.3, SL.2.4, SL.2.6, L.2.1, L.2.2, L.2.4, L.2.5, L.2.6

Drafting I: Marking Time

uses My Abuelita by Tony Johnston.

Rationale: When telling stories, writers make intentional decisions about how to move readers through time.

Students will make decisions about how to use temporal or transition words and phrases to signal the order of events and to help plan and draft their narratives.

Common Core State Standards: W.2.3, W.2.5, W.2.8, SL.2.1, SL.2.2, SL.2.3, SL.2.4, SL.2.6, L.2.1, L.2.2, L.2.4, L.2.5, L.2.6

Drafting II: The Whole Story

uses Owl Moon by Jane Yolen.

Rationale: Writers of personal narratives use a story structure that includes a sequence of events presented in a logical order. Students will structure their stories to include a clear beginning, middle, and end, using main ideas and supporting details.

Common Core State Standards: W.2.3, W.2.5, W.2.8, SL.2.1, SL.2.2, SL.2.3, SL.2.4, SL.2.6, L.2.1, L.2.2, L.2.6

Drafting III: Great Revelations

uses My Abuelita by Tony Johnston.

Rationale: Writers reveal, or uncover, something important in personal narrative writing. This presents a sense of purpose and focus as the readers move through the text. Students will reveal an important idea in their stories as they unfold and conclude.

Common Core State Standards: W.2.3, W.2.5, W.2.8, SL.2.1, SL.2.2, SL.2.3, SL.2.4, SL.2.6, L.2.1, L.2.2, L.2.6

Revising I: Say What?

uses The Day of Ahmed's Secret by Florence P. Heide and Judith Heide Gilliland.

Rationale: Writers use narrative techniques, such as dialogue, to enhance meaning and add interest to their stories.

Students will begin revising their drafts by determining how and where to incorporate dialogue in order to make their writing more engaging and meaningful.

Revising II: The Magic of Voice

uses Looking Back by Lois Lowry.

Rationale: When writing personal narrative it is important that the writer's voice, or personality, comes through the words; the words should be "heard" by the readers. One strategy writers use to do this is to reveal their inner feelings. Students will revise their drafts to add voice to their narratives by including their inner feelings.

Common Core State Standards: W.2.3, W.2.5, W.2.8, SL.2.1, SL.2.2, SL.2.3, SL.2.4, SL.2.6, L.2.1, L.2.2, L.2.4,

L.2.5, L.2.6

Revising III: A Way With Words

uses Ma Dear's Aprons by Patricia McKissack.

Rationale: Writers use vivid descriptions in personal narratives to bring the readers more fully into their stories.

Sometimes they put words together in interesting ways to help them express precisely what they want to say. Students will learn how writers use descriptive words and how they, too, can put words together to express their thoughts in an engaging way that draws their readers into their stories.

Common Core State Standards: W.2.3, W.2.5, W.2.8, SL.2.1, SL.2.2, SL.2.3, SL.2.4, SL.2.6, L.2.1, L.2.2, L.2.4, L.2.5, L.2.6

Editing I: CUPS Editing Checklist

uses an editing checklist.

Rationale: Writers need to have a system for editing their writing. An editing checklist will help students examine and edit the conventions of text as necessary to help them communicate in writing. Students will demonstrate command of the conventions of standard English grammar and usage when writing and speaking.

Common Core State Standards: W.2.3, W.2.5, W.2.8, SL.2.1, SL.2.2, SL.2.3, SL.2.4, SL.2.6, L.2.1, L.2.2, L.2.6

Editing II: How Do I Spell . . . ?

uses students' drafts.

Rationale: Standard spelling within a piece of writing enables the readers to read and take meaning from it. Writers often ask for help with proofreading and editing spelling to make their writing more readable. Students will work with a partner to proofread and peer edit each other's drafts for any spelling errors and then edit their drafts based on their partner's findings.

Common Core State Standards: W.2.3, W.2.5, W.2.8, SL.2.1, SL.2.2, SL.2.3, SL.2.4, SL.2.6, L.2.1, L.2.2, L.2.6

Publishing: Author's Note and Dedication uses Ma Dear's Aprons by Patricia McKissack and My Abuelita by Tony Johnston.

Rationale: Writers base personal narrative stories on experiences from their lives. Author's Notes and Dedications often explain where the idea for the story came from. Students will share with their readers the inspiration for their stories by including an Author's Note and a meaningful Dedication.

Common Core State Standards: W.2.3, W.2.5, W.2.6, W.2.7, W.2.8, SL.2.1, SL.2.2, SL.2.3, SL.2.4, SL.2.5, SL.2.6, L.2.1, L.2.2, L.2.4, L.2.6

Differentiation

Based on individual need, teachers will offer additional support through conferencing, modified mentor text, peer support and individualized mini-lessons.

Advanced learners will be offered more rigorous mentor texts to emulate, teacher conferences and reference materials to support in-depth writing endeavors, based on choice.

- Understand that gifted students, just like all students, come to school to learn and be challenged.
- Pre-assess your students. Find out their areas of strength as well as those areas you may need to address before students move on.
- Consider grouping gifted students together for at least part of the school day.
- Plan for differentiation. Consider pre-assessments, extension activities, and compacting the curriculum.
- Use phrases like "You've shown you don't need more practice" or "You need more practice" instead of words like "qualify" or "eligible" when referring to extension work.
- Encourage high-ability students to take on challenges. Because they're often used to getting good grades, gifted students may be risk averse.

- Definitions of Differentiation Components:

- Content – the specific information that is to be taught in the lesson/unit/course of instruction.
- Process – how the student will acquire the content information.
- Product – how the student will demonstrate understanding of the content.
- Learning Environment – the environment where learning is taking place including physical location and/or student grouping

Differentiation occurring in this unit:

Based on individual need, teachers will offer additional support through conferencing, modified mentor text, peer support and individualized mini-lessons.

Advanced learners will be offered more rigorous mentor texts to emulate, teacher conferences and reference materials to support in-depth writing endeavors, based on choice.

Modifications & Accommodations

IEP accommodations, and modifications will be in place, and teacher assigned modifications and accommodations will be assigned, assessed, and monitored.

Follow IEP accommodations and differentiate materials, project requirements as needed.

Refer to QSAC EXCEL SMALL SPED ACCOMMODATIONS spreadsheet in this discipline.

Modifications and Accommodations used in this unit:

IEP modifications will be followed

RTI support in writing
conferencing,

Benchmark Assessments

Benchmark Assessments are given periodically (e.g., at the end of every quarter or as frequently as once per month) throughout a school year to establish baseline achievement data and measure progress toward a standard or set of academic standards and goals.

Schoolwide Benchmark assessments:

Aimsweb benchmarks 3X a year

Linkit Benchmarks 3X a year

DRA

Additional Benchmarks used in this unit:

DRA and Aimsweb

Formative Assessments

Assessment allows both instructor and student to monitor progress towards achieving learning objectives, and can be approached in a variety of ways. Formative assessment refers to tools that identify misconceptions, struggles, and learning gaps along the way and assess how to close those gaps. It includes effective tools for helping to shape learning, and can even bolster students' abilities to take ownership of their learning when they understand that the goal is to improve learning, not apply final marks (Trumbull and Lash, 2013). It can include students assessing themselves, peers, or even the instructor, through writing, quizzes, conversation, and more. In short, formative assessment occurs throughout a class or course, and seeks to improve student achievement of learning objectives through approaches that can support specific student needs (Theal and Franklin, 2010, p. 151).

Formative Assessments used in this unit:

Discussion

Teacher conferences

worksheets

Anecdotal records

Student drafts

Summative Assessments

summative assessments evaluate student learning, knowledge, proficiency, or success at the conclusion of an instructional period, like a unit, course, or program. Summative assessments are almost always formally graded and often heavily weighted (though they do not need to be). Summative assessment can be used to great effect in conjunction and alignment with formative assessment, and instructors can consider a variety of ways to combine these approaches.

Summative assessments for this unit:

Student Self-Reflection

uses a self-reflection questionnaire.

Rationale: Students are more engaged learners when they are actively involved in the evaluation process.

Teaching

students to reflect on their own growth as writers and the effectiveness of the strategies they use will help them set goals for their future as independent writers.
