

Yearlong - The Writing Revolution - Grade 3

Content Area: English
Course(s):
Time Period: September
Length: All Year Across the curriculum
Status: Published

Unit Overview

The methodology rests on explicit, carefully sequenced instruction, building from sentences to compositions. The Hochman Method is not a separate writing curriculum but rather an approach designed to be adapted to and embedded in the content being taught in any subject area and at any grade level.

Enduring Understandings

1. Students need explicit instruction in writing, beginning in the early elementary grades.
2. Sentences are the building blocks of all writing.
3. When embedded in the content of the curriculum, writing instruction is a powerful teaching tool.
4. The content of the curriculum drives the rigor of the writing activities.
5. Grammar is best taught in the context of student writing.
6. The two most important phases of the writing process are planning and revising.

Essential Questions

What are the four types of sentences?

What is sentence expansion and using question words (who, what, when, where, why, and how)?

Why use sentence activities (Fragments, Scrambled Sentences, and Run-ons) to teach grammar and conventions?

What are compound and complex sentences and why do we combine simple sentences?

How should a paragraph be structured - using an SPO?

What are text structures and why are they important?

Instructional Strategies & Learning Activities

Sample Pacing Guides: Grades 3

This is a sample pacing guide for a school first implementing TWR in grade 3. As students advance through the pacing guide, previous activities should be practiced recursively. Individual classes may move through the guide at a different pace based on the frequency and fidelity of use, and student readiness. Activities should be differentiated as needed.

Pacing Guides are based on the following end-of-year goals:

Grade Level	End-of-Year Goals
3	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Students are proficient in the sentence-level strategies• Students can write notes in key words, phrases, symbols and abbreviations, and convert those notes into sentences (and vice versa)• Students can plan a single paragraph independently using the SPO, and convert the SPO into a paragraph<ul style="list-style-type: none">○ Paragraphs are coherent, contain transitions and complex sentences• Students can use 2 tools to summarize: Sentence Summary, SPO• Students can apply the sentence strategies to revise their work (based on teacher’s explicit feedback)

Integration of 21st Century Themes and Skills

The 21st century skills are a set of abilities that students need to develop in order to succeed in the information age. The Partnership for 21st Century Skills lists three types:

Learning Skills

- Critical Thinking
- Creative Thinking
- Collaborating
- Communicating

Literacy Skills

- Information Literacy
- Media Literacy
- Technology Literacy

Interdisciplinary Connections

The Writing Revolution is an approach designed to be adapted to and embedded in the content being taught in any subject area and at any grade level.

Differentiation

Modify expectations: Shorten or lengthen assignment depending on abilities.

Require basic or extended vocabulary.

Small group teacher instruction based on student's writing ability.

Pair students heterogeneously for centers to encourage students to learn from peers.

Allow for speech to text for longer writing assignments.

Provide choice extension projects as necessary to extend learning

Modifications & Accommodations

Refer to QSAC, EXCEL SPED Accommodations spreadsheet in this discipline.

IEP and 504 accommodations will be utilized.

Formative Assessments

You can provide this formative assessment during different types of writing conferences:

- Desk-Side Conferences occur when you stop at a student's desk to ask questions and make responses. Questions should be open-ended. This gives the writer "space" to talk and clarify his or her own thinking about the writing.
- Scheduled Conferences give you and a student a chance to meet for 3 to 5 minutes in a more structured setting. In such a conference, a student may have a specific problem or need to discuss or simply want you to assess his or her progress on a particular piece of writing.
- Small-Group Conferences give you a chance to meet with three to five students who are at the same stage of the writing process or are experiencing a similar problem. The goal of such conferences is twofold: first, to help students improve their writing and, second, to help them become better assessors.

Summative Assessments

Decide which assignments require summative assessment, and then grade the writing following this process:

- Ask students to submit prewriting and rough drafts with their final drafts.
- Scan final drafts once, focusing on the writing as a whole.
- Reread them, this time assessing them using the qualities of writing.
- Make marginal notations, if necessary, as you read the drafts a second time.

- Scan the writing a third and final time. Note the feedback you have given.
- Complete your rating sheet or rubric, and, if necessary, write a summary comment.
