Differentiation

- Understand that gifted students, just like all students, come to school to learn and be challenged.
- Pre-assess your students. Find out their areas of strength as well as those areas you may need to address before students move on.
- Consider grouping gifted students together for at least part of the school day.
- Plan for differentiation. Consider pre-assessments, extension activities, and compacting the curriculum.
- Use phrases like "You've shown you don't need more practice" or "You need more practice" instead of words like "qualify" or "eligible" when referring to extension work.
- Encourage high-ability students to take on challenges. Because they're often used to getting good grades, gifted students may be risk averse.
- Definitions of Differentiation Components:
  - Content – the specific information that is to be taught in the lesson/unit/course of instruction.
  - Process – how the student will acquire the content information.
  - Product – how the student will demonstrate understanding of the content.
  - Learning Environment – the environment where learning is taking place including physical location and/or student grouping

Differentiation occurring in this unit:

Learners Reading and Writing Below Grade Level

- Reduce the Amount of Reading In lieu of students reading Sections 2-4, directly teach the historical connections by filling out the T-chart below, as a class. To save time, you might provide students the left side of the T-chart so they only need to record connections to the Experiential Exercise. Afterward, have students read Section 5 and complete the corresponding Reading Notes. (See t-chart in online subscription)

Learners with Special Needs

- Prepare Students for the Experience Before beginning the activity, summarize the goal and forewarn students about the upcoming tensions between Plebs and Pats. Depending on the level of your students, you may wish to tell them explicitly that the simulation will create classroom conditions so that one group of students will feel frustrated with another group of students. Explain that it is okay for them to feel happy, angry, or frustrated during the activity. Assure students that you will debrief the activity as a class so they can share their feelings and learn how the experience connects to the history of Rome.

Advanced Learners

- Graph Plebeian Equality Over Time Modify the Processing activity, an illustrated timeline. Have students create a line graph to demonstrate the increasing equality of the plebeians. Students should title the x-axis "Year" and label the five dates in the Processing activity. Students should title the y-axis "Level of Equality" and label it from 0 to 10. For each date, tell students to evaluate the extent of equality that plebeians experienced at that time. For example, in 616 B.C.E., plebeians were under both patricians and the Etruscan king. Students might suggest that plebeian equality was extremely low, perhaps a 1 on the scale. They would plot the point (616, 2). After students have plotted the “equality level” for all five dates, they can connect the points to create a line graph.

- Compare the Plebeian Struggle with Others in History Help students discover that the story of the plebeians has occurred throughout history, as different groups fought to gain economic, political, and civil rights. Encourage students to think of other groups who have fewer rights than a more powerful group. For example, they might consider Native Americans, African Americans, or women in the United States. Ask students to create a Venn diagram, a chart, or another type of graphic organizer that shows the similarities and differences between the plight of Roman plebeians and the plight of the group they have chosen.

Learners Reading and Writing Below Grade Level

- Read One Section at a Time Break up the reading during the Visual Discovery activity so that students read only one section at a time.
- To break up the reading for Physical Geography of Greece:
- Ask all but the last bulleted question in Step 2. Have students read Section 2 and complete the corresponding Reading Notes.
- Ask the last bulleted question in Step 2. Have students read Section 3 and complete the corresponding Reading Notes.
- To break up the reading for Ancient Greek Colonies and Trade Routes: Ask all but the last two bulleted questions in Step 5. Have students read Section 4 and complete the corresponding Reading Notes.
- Ask the last two bulleted questions in Step 5. Have students read Section 5 and complete the corresponding Reading Notes.
- Scaffold the Reading Notes Use the Guide to Reading Notes to scaffold the Reading Notes so that students take steps toward working more independently.
- For Section 2, omit key words that students can fill in.
- For Sections 3 and 4, provide prompts that students can complete.
- For Section 5, have students complete as written.

Learners with Special Education Needs

- Divide the Preview Question Divide the Preview question in the Interactive Student Notebook into two separate questions: How do you think the physical geography of Greece influenced where people settled? and How do you think the physical geography of Greece influenced how people lived? Students should write a brief response to each question.
- Offer a Choice for the Processing Activity Have students complete two of the four storyboard pages for the Processing activity. Allow students the choice of doing Pages 1 and 2 or Pages 3 and 4. Alternatively, consider pairing students to work together to complete all four pages of the storyboard.

Advanced Learners

- Add Questions to the Debrief Add the following questions to Step 8 in the Visual Discovery activity:

Modifications & Accommodations

Refer to QSAC EXCEL SMALL SPED ACCOMMODATIONS spreadsheet in this discipline.

Modifications and Accommodations used in this unit:

IEP and 504 Accommodations will be utilized.

Benchmark Assessments

Benchmark Assessments are given periodically (e.g., at the end of every quarter or as frequently as once per month) throughout a school year to establish baseline achievement data and measure progress toward a standard or set of academic standards and goals.

Schoolwide Benchmark assessments:

Aimsweb benchmarks 3X a year

Linkit Benchmarks 3X a year

Additional Benchmarks used in this unit:

sentence construction

paragraph writing

DBQ

Formative Assessments

---

Assessment allows both instructor and student to monitor progress towards achieving learning objectives, and can be approached in a variety of ways. Formative assessment refers to tools that identify misconceptions, struggles, and learning gaps along the way and assess how to close those gaps. It includes effective tools for helping to shape learning, and can even bolster students' abilities to take ownership of their learning when they understand that the goal is to improve learning, not apply final marks (Trumbull and Lash, 2013). It can include students assessing themselves, peers, or even the instructor, through writing, quizzes, conversation, and more. In short, formative assessment occurs throughout a class or course, and seeks to improve student achievement of learning objectives through approaches that can support specific student needs (Theal and Franklin, 2010, p. 151).

Formative Assessments used

See assessments listed above.

Summative Assessments

---

Summative assessments evaluate student learning, knowledge, proficiency, or success at the conclusion of an instructional period, like a unit, course, or program. Summative assessments are almost always formally graded and often heavily weighted (though they do not need to be). Summative assessment can be used to great effect in conjunction and alignment with formative assessment, and instructors can consider a variety of ways to combine these approaches.

Summative assessments for this unit:

See assessments listed above.
