Technology and Design Integration

Students will create reports using Google Drive.

Systematically apply troubleshooting strategies to identify and resolve hardware and software problems in computing systems.

Troubleshooting a problem is more effective when knowledge of the specific device along with a systematic process is used to identify the source of a problem.

Interdisciplinary Connections

LA.RH.6-8.1	Cite specific textual evidence to support analysis of primary and secondary sources.
LA.RH.6-8.2	Determine the central ideas or information of a primary or secondary source; provide an accurate summary of the source distinct from prior knowledge or opinions.

LA.WHST.6-8.6	Use technology, including the Internet, to produce and publish writing and present the relationships between information and ideas clearly and efficiently.
LA.WHST.6-8.7	Conduct short research projects to answer a question (including a self-generated question), drawing on several sources and generating additional related, focused questions that allow for multiple avenues of exploration.

Differentiation

- Understand that gifted students, just like all students, come to school to learn and be challenged.
- Pre-assess your students. Find out their areas of strength as well as those areas you may need to address before students move on.
- Consider grouping gifted students together for at least part of the school day.
- Plan for differentiation. Consider pre-assessments, extension activities, and compacting the curriculum.
- Use phrases like "You've shown you don't need more practice" or "You need more practice" instead of words like "qualify" or "eligible" when referring to extension work.
- Encourage high-ability students to take on challenges. Because they're often used to getting good grades, gifted students may be risk averse.
- Definitions of Differentiation Components:
  - Content – the specific information that is to be taught in the lesson/unit/course of instruction.
  - Process – how the student will acquire the content information.
  - Product – how the student will demonstrate understanding of the content.
  - Learning Environment – the environment where learning is taking place including physical location and/or student grouping

Differentiation occurring in this unit:

Differentiation/Modifications:

Conduct a Prereading Strategy Use the trivia questions (located in the Deeper Coverage section of this lesson) as a prereading strategy. After the Preview, but before the Skill Builder, have students turn to Section 3 and read the first question aloud. Reward the student who finds the answer, or have students record their answers instead of shouting them out. Then have students turn to Section 4, and continue this process. As students are looking for answers, they will increase their comfort level with the text and be better prepared to take their Reading Notes.

- Reduce the Number of Stations Allow students to complete the Reading Notes for just four or five of the eight stations in the time allotted to the rest of the class. For the remaining stations, only require that they complete the pictures and

Learners with Special Education Needs

- Model the Activity Model the procedures for the Social Studies Skill Builder before sending pairs to the stations. Using a transparency of Information Master A and of the Reading Notes for Section 3, complete the Venn diagram for this section as a class. Then complete all the steps on Information Master A together, asking volunteers to share their answers orally at each step.
- Support the Processing Activity Provide the following scripted lines to help students understand how to discuss an aspect of daily life in a dialogue:
- Rich Roman: “I enjoy watching the chariot races from my cushioned seat close to the track at the Circus Maximus.”
- Poor Roman: “I also love going to see the chariot races, but I have to sit on a wooden bench far away from the action.”
- Consider requiring students to include only two or three aspects of daily life in their dialogues.
  - captions. Use the Guide to Reading Notes to provide answers for the remaining Reading Notes.

Advanced Learners:

- Write a Dialogue Between Teens Have students write a dialogue between a Roman teenager and an American teenager. Encourage students to reference at least four aspects of daily life that were discussed in this lesson, from both a Roman perspective and a American perspective. Require that students include Key Content Terms in appropriate parts of their dialogue. You may even wish to challenge students to write a four-character script, involving a rich and poor Roman and a rich and poor American.

Compare Rome to Home Have students create a Venn diagram, digitally or on poster board, comparing daily life in the Roman Empire to life in the United States today. For example, they might compare ancient Roman sporting events to modern sporting events, or family life in the Roman Empire to their own family life. Consider giving students a choice between (1) comparing their personal experience to all eight aspects of daily life on a single Venn diagram, or (2) researching one aspect of Roman and American daily life in depth and creating a more detailed Venn diagram

Learners Reading and Writing Below Grade Level

- Read One Section at a Time Break up the reading during the Visual Discovery activity so that students read only one section at a time.

- To break up the reading for Physical Geography of Greece:
- Ask all but the last bulleted question in Step 2. Have students read Section 2 and complete the corresponding Reading Notes.
- Ask the last bulleted question in Step 2. Have students read Section 3 and complete the corresponding Reading Notes.
- To break up the reading for Ancient Greek Colonies and Trade Routes: Ask all but the last two bulleted questions in Step 5. Have students read Section 4 and complete the corresponding Reading Notes.
- Ask the last two bulleted questions in Step 5. Have students read Section 5 and complete the corresponding Reading Notes.
- Scaffold the Reading Notes Use the Guide to Reading Notes to scaffold the Reading Notes so that students take steps toward working more independently.
- For Section 2, omit key words that students can fill in.
- For Sections 3 and 4, provide prompts that students can complete.
- For Section 5, have students complete as written.

Learners with Special Education Needs

- Divide the Preview Question Divide the Preview question in the Interactive Student Notebook into two separate questions: How do you think the physical geography of Greece influenced where people settled? and How do you think the physical geography of Greece influenced how people lived? Students should write a brief response to each question.
- Offer a Choice for the Processing Activity Have students complete two of the four storyboard pages for the Processing activity. Allow students the choice of doing Pages 1 and 2 or Pages 3 and 4. Alternatively, consider pairing students to work together to complete all four pages of the storyboard.

Advanced Learners

- Add Questions to the Debrief Add the following questions to Step 8 in the Visual Discovery activity:

Formative Assessments

Assessment allows both instructor and student to monitor progress towards achieving learning objectives, and can be approached in a variety of ways. Formative assessment refers to tools that identify misconceptions, struggles, and learning gaps along the way and assess how to close those gaps. It includes effective tools for helping to shape learning, and can even bolster students' abilities to take ownership of their learning when they understand that the goal is to improve learning, not apply final marks (Trumbull and Lash, 2013). It can include students assessing themselves, peers, or even the instructor, through writing, quizzes, conversation, and more. In short, formative assessment occurs throughout a class or course, and seeks to improve student achievement of learning objectives through approaches that can support specific student needs (Theal and Franklin, 2010, p. 151).
