

Sept.SW Gr.8 Argumentative Essay WRITING

Content Area: English
Course(s): Language Arts
Time Period: September
Length: 6-8 Weeks
Status: Published

Unit Overview

An argumentative essay is where the writer presents an argument with supporting ideas, reasons, and evidence, as well as alternate or opposing claims. The writer's primary purpose is to effectively communicate his or her position and beliefs about a topic or issue so in turn the writer can convince or change the beliefs or opinions of others. To do so the writer needs to choose a topic he or she feels strongly about, one that can be argued and adequately supported with clear reasons and relevant evidence. Keep in mind that argumentative essays are similar to but also different from persuasive essays. Both types of essays have similar goals: to convince an audience to agree with the point of view or thesis. However, the two types of essays differ in their methods. A persuasive essay acknowledges there is an opposing view while not debating or expounding on it. Conversely, an argumentative essay not only acknowledges the counterclaims but also fully reveals its understanding of the relative merits and weaknesses of those views or positions.

Enduring Understandings

Students will: ■ Engage in a range of collaborative discussions with diverse partners on content area topics and issues, building on others' ideas and expressing their own clearly; ■ Read mentor texts to identify the structural elements, purpose, and writing style of argumentative essays; ■ Analyze and evaluate the argument and specific claims in mentor texts, assessing whether the reasoning is sound and the evidence is relevant; ■ Write arguments to support claims in an analysis of substantive topics or texts using valid reasoning and relevant and sufficient evidence; ■ Write informative/explanatory texts to examine and convey complex ideas and information clearly and accurately through the effective selection, organization, and analysis of content; ■ Conduct a short, sustained research project based on focused questions and claims, demonstrating understanding of the discipline-specific topic under investigation; ■ Gather relevant information from multiple print and digital sources; ■ Draw evidence from informational texts to support analysis, reflection, and research; ■ Develop and strengthen writing as needed by planning, revising, editing, rewriting, and/or trying a new approach; ■ Use words, phrases, and clauses to create cohesion and clarify the relationships among claims, counterclaims, reasons, and evidence; ■ Provide a concluding statement or section that supports the argument presented; and ■ Use technology to produce and publish writing and present the relationships between information and ideas.

Interdisciplinary Connections

Various disciplines will be explored through group texts and individual leveled, choice texts.

Differentiation

- Understand that gifted students, just like all students, come to school to learn and be challenged.

- Pre-assess your students. Find out their areas of strength as well as those areas you may need to address before students move on.
- Consider grouping gifted students together for at least part of the school day.
- Plan for differentiation. Consider pre-assessments, extension activities, and compacting the curriculum.
- Use phrases like "You've shown you don't need more practice" or "You need more practice" instead of words like "qualify" or "eligible" when referring to extension work.
- Encourage high-ability students to take on challenges. Because they're often used to getting good grades, gifted students may be risk averse.
- Definitions of Differentiation Components:
 - Content – the specific information that is to be taught in the lesson/unit/course of instruction.
 - Process – how the student will acquire the content information.
 - Product – how the student will demonstrate understanding of the content.
 - Learning Environment – the environment where learning is taking place including physical location and/or student grouping

Differentiation occurring in this unit:

Students will have access to leveled libraries of a variety of texts and be able to choose based on interest.

Modifications & Accommodations

Refer to QSAC EXCEL SMALL SPED ACCOMMODATIONS spreadsheet in this discipline.

Modifications and Accommodations used in this unit:

IEP and 504 accommodations will be utilized.

Benchmark Assessments

Benchmark Assessments are given periodically (e.g., at the end of every quarter or as frequently as once per month) throughout a school year to establish baseline achievement data and measure progress toward a standard or set of academic standards and goals.

Schoolwide Benchmark assessments:

Formative Assessments

- Assessment allows both instructor and student to monitor progress towards achieving learning objectives, and can be approached in a variety of ways. Formative assessment refers to tools that identify misconceptions, struggles, and learning gaps along the way and assess how to close those gaps. It includes effective tools for helping to shape learning, and can even bolster students' abilities to take ownership of their learning when they understand that the goal is to improve learning, not apply final marks (Trumbull and Lash, 2013). It can include students assessing themselves, peers, or even the instructor, through writing, quizzes, conversation, and more. In short, formative assessment occurs throughout a class or course, and seeks to improve student achievement of learning objectives through approaches that can support specific student needs (Theal and Franklin, 2010, p. 151).

Formative Assessments used in this unit:

Discussion

Teacher observation

worksheets

projects

teacher made tests

Summative Assessments

Summative assessments evaluate student learning, knowledge, proficiency, or success at the conclusion of an instructional period, like a unit, course, or program. Summative assessments are almost always formally graded and often heavily weighted (though they do not need to be). Summative assessment can be used to great effect in conjunction and alignment with formative assessment, and instructors can consider a variety of ways to combine these approaches.

Summative assessments for this unit:

Unit assessments

Student Self-Reflection uses a self-reflection questionnaire. Rationale: Self-reflection is a critical stage of the writing process, and thinking about what has been achieved in the past can help writers improve their future writing. Students will read their essays as well as the essays of their classmates to review and reflect on what they have learned and accomplished.
