General Overview, Course Description or Course Philosophy

OBJECTIVES, ESSENTIAL QUESTIONS, ENDURING UNDERSTANDINGS

Objective: Printmaking is an additive or reductive form of relief printing. Texture is central for the art form.

Essential Questions: Why is it important, for safety and health, to understand and follow correct procedures in handling materials, tools and equipment? What responsibilities come with the freedom to create? How do artists and designers determine goals for designing or redesigning objects, places or systems?

Enduring Understandings: Artists and designers experiment with forms, structures, materials, concepts, media, and art-making approaches. Artists and designers balance experimentation and safety, freedom and responsibility, while developing and creating artworks. People create and interact with objects, places and design that define, shape, enhance, and empower their lives.

- People create and interact with objects, places and design that define, shape, enhance, and empower their lives.
- There are specific safety practices to be implemented while printmaking.

Procedural Knowledge

Students will be able to:

- Determine goals for designing or redesigning objects, places and systems.
- Create original reliefs to print using additive or reductive techniques.
- Understand and implement the use of a variety of carving and printing tools.
- Apply safety practices in this art form.

EVIDENCE OF LEARNING

Alternate Assessments

- Multimedia Presentations
- Teacher/Student Conferences
- Class Discussions
- Teacher/Student Conferences

Formative Assessments

Students will be checked on sketches, thumbnail drawings, drawing techniques, additive sculpture techniques, individual progress and media prior to final assessment.

Individual differentiation and teacher guidance.

Summative Assessments

Students will produce an authentic and original woodcut or collograph and print edition which demonstrates the implementation and mastery of the lesson objectives which includes the merger of the concept with the art form.

Closing with class critique and final student presentation of artwork.
