Enduring Understandings

Readers can learn more information about a topic by reading more than one book on the topic and thinking about how they teach the same or different information.

- Readers have special strategies to help them understand information books.
- There are similarities and differences between two informational texts on the same topic.
- Readers actively engage in group informational reading activities with purpose and understanding.

Essential Questions

1. How can I take what I learn from one book and add it to what I learn from another book about the same topic?
2. What are strategies that readers can use to examine and understand nonfiction texts?
- 3.. How do readers identify basic similarities in and differences between two informational texts on the same topic?
4. How do readers actively engage in group informational reading activities with purpose and understanding?

RELATED STANDARDS (Technology, 21st Century Life & Careers, ELA Companion Standards are Required)

CRP.K-12.CRP4.1

Career-ready individuals communicate thoughts, ideas, and action plans with clarity, whether using written, verbal, and/or visual methods. They communicate in the workplace with clarity and purpose to make maximum use of their own and others' time. They are excellent writers; they master conventions, word choice, and organization, and use effective tone and presentation skills to articulate ideas. They are skilled at interacting with others; they are active listeners and speak clearly and with purpose. Career-ready individuals think about the audience for their communication and prepare accordingly to ensure the desired outcome.

CRP.K-12.CRP8.1

Career-ready individuals readily recognize problems in the workplace, understand the nature of the problem, and devise effective plans to solve the problem. They are aware of problems when they occur and take action quickly to address the problem; they thoughtfully investigate the root cause of the problem prior to introducing solutions. They carefully consider the options to solve the problem. Once a solution is agreed upon, they follow through to ensure the problem is solved, whether through their own actions or the actions of others.

TECH.8.1.2.A.CS1
