STUDENT LEARNING TARGETS

Declarative Knowledge

Students will understand that:

- Philanthropy is desire and active effort to help other people.
- Volunteering means spending some of your time helping others.
- Charity means showing kindness or goodwill to others.
- Ethical means pertaining to or dealing with morals or the principles of morality; pertaining to right and wrong.

- Philanthropy, volunteerism, and charity are all about giving to others and lifting them up through a voluntary contribution of money, talents, and/or time.
- All three methods of giving to others are key factors in the development of communities and improvement of the lives of people in a donor's home town or city, state, country, or even around the world.
- Philanthropy and charity both involve giving money, but charity is typically an immediate response to a short-term need (i.e. natural disaster). Philanthropy on the other hand is more long-term and strategic and often involves making multiple gifts to help people over a number of years.
- 501(c)(3) is a nonprofit business that has a mission to inform and educate individuals or the general public.
- Community service is work done by a person or group of people that benefits others.
- Crowdfunding is the practice of funding a project or venture by raising money from a large number of people, in modern times typically via the Internet.
- Donation is something given to help those in need.
- Service learning connects classroom studies with the natural caring and concern young people have for their world.
- Volunteerism means spending some of your time helping others.
- Nonprofit is an organization whose primary objective is something other than the generation of profit.
- National service refers to programs that address community needs in disaster services, economic opportunity, education, the environment, health, and veterans and military families.
- Consumer, business, and government responsibility are all important to the economy and personal finance.
- Factors such as good for the environment, society, animal welfare, and body and soul help to determine if a product or service is ethical.
- Ethical business practices can help companies avoid legal problems and negative financial results that arise once the unethical behavior is discovered.
- Customers, employees, suppliers and investors are more satisfied when the product or service is ethical. When they are more satisfied it can have a positive impact on the amount of money the company is making.
