General Overview, Course Description or Course Philosophy

In this unit, students will demonstrate and apply an understanding of arts philosophies, judgment, and analysis to works of dance.

OBJECTIVES, ESSENTIAL QUESTIONS, ENDURING UNDERSTANDINGS

Enduring Understandings:

- Dancing in a structured environment allows people the opportunity to develop physical, cognitive, social, and artistic skills.
- Awareness of and exposure to various cultural influences heavily shape one's ability to comprehend, appreciate, and interpret various dance forms.
- Contextual clues are essential to differentiating between unique and common properties of dance and cultural implications.
- Interdisciplinary learning activities shape the depth of response to art.
- Critical viewing and thinking skills learned through dance are essential to a successful, comprehensive educational experience.
- Research, observation, and participation in dance are essential to dance literacy.

Essential Questions:

- How is dance communicated?
- How is dance analyzed and understood?
- What is the relationship between dance and other art disciplines?
- How can cultural and thematic implications be deciphered in dance?
- How can dances be classified in their cultural and historical contexts?
- How have dance styles, trends, movements, and historical responses to dance evolved over time?

STUDENT LEARNING TARGETS

Refer to the 'Declarative Knowledge' and 'Procedural Knowledge' sections.

Declarative Knowledge

Students will understand that:

- Recognition of fundamental elements within various arts disciplines is dependent on the ability to decipher cultural implications embedded in artworks.
- Contextual clues within artwork often reveal artistic intent, enabling the viewer to hypothesize the artist's concept.
- Artistic styles, trends, movements, and historical responses to various genres of art evolve over time.

Procedural Knowledge

Students will be able to:

- Review choreographic structures and elements of dance.
- View professional performances of various genres of dance and interdisciplinary performances.
- Communicate in group discussions about artistry, production elements, and the aesthetic quality of dance works.
- Demonstrate ability to hypothesize a choreographer's artistic intent based on thematic elements, production selection, and movement choices.
- Read and interpret varied literary selections about dance.
- Complete a variety of writing activities in response to dance performance, dance literature, and dance media.
- Present multi-media presentations on dance aesthetic.
