Time Period: Full Year
Length: Full Year
Status: Published

Unit Overview

When creating art, color choice is extremely important. In this unit, students will explore different colors and why artists choose certain colors. Students will be able to recognize and name the various lines they see in their own work and master works of art.

Enduring Understandings

Colors are all around us and color choice is important to an artist.

Lines are in all art, and provide form and value.

Essential Questions

What is color scheme?
What are tertiary colors?
What are tints and shades?
What kinds of lines do you see artwork?
What is an outline?
How can you create outlines using di□erent lines?
How do lines provide weight in a work of art?
How can you make many di□erent directional lines, lines of various qualities, and lines of various weights to complete your work?
Where can you see the artist change the weight and/or direction of lines in the work?

Learning Objectives

Identify, describe, create, and utilize primary, secondary, and tertiary colors.
Identify, describe, create, utilize and group warm, cool colors, and complimentary colors.
Explain how to create a new (secondary/ tint/ shade) color.
Identify, create, and utilize neutral colors.
Create, recognize, and discuss color schemes.
Explain how outlines create shapes.
Identify different types of lines in artwork.
Use outlines in drawing.
Explain how lines provide weight.
Create artwork which uses different types of lines, line qualities, and weights to create work.

Use the tools associated with art to create lines and outlines of various qualities, directions, and weights in their art that best match their ideas.
Identify lines they see in their own work and master works of art.

Standards: Content

	Creativity and innovative thinking are essential life skills that can be developed. Artists and designers shape artistic investigations, following or breaking with traditions in pursuit of creative art-making goals.
	What conditions, attitudes, and behaviors support creativity and innovative thinking? What factors prevent or encourage people to take creative risks? How does collaboration expand the creative process? How does knowing the contexts, histories, and traditions of art forms help us create works of art and design? Why do artists follow or break from established traditions? How do artists determine what resources and criteria are needed to formulate artistic investigations?
1.5.5.Cr1a	Brainstorm and curate ideas to innovatively problem solve during artmaking and design projects.
1.5.5.Cr1b	Individually and collaboratively set goals, investigate, choose, and demonstrate diverse approaches to art-making that is meaningful to the makers.
	Artists and designers experiment with forms, structures, materials, concepts, media, and art-making approaches. Artists and designers balance experimentation and safety, freedom and responsibility, while developing and creating artworks. People create and interact with objects, places and design that define, shape, enhance, and empower their lives.
	How do artists work? How do artists and designers determine whether a particular direction in their work is effective? How do artists and designers learn from trial and error? How do artists and designers care for and maintain materials, tools and equipment? Why is it important, for safety and health, to understand and follow correct procedures in handling materials, tools and equipment? What responsibilities come with the freedom to create? How do objects, places and design shape lives and communities? How do artists and designers determine goals for designing or redesigning objects, places, or systems? How do artists and designers create works of art or design that effectively communicate?
1.5.5.Cr2a	Experiment and develop skills in multiple art-making techniques and approaches, through invention and practice.
1.5.5.Cr2b	Demonstrate craftsmanship through the safe and respectful use of materials, tools and equipment.
1.5.5.Cr2c	Individually or collaboratively represent environments or objects of personal significance that includes a process of peer discussion, revision and refinement.
	Artists and designers develop excellence through practice and constructive critique, reflecting on, revising and refining work over time.
	What role does persistence play in revising, refining and developing work? How do artists grow and become accomplished in art forms? How does collaboratively reflecting on a work help us experience it more completely?
1.5.5.Cr3a	Reflect, refine, and revise work individually and collaboratively, and discuss and describe personal choices in artmaking.
	Artists and other presenters consider various techniques, methods, venues, and criteria when analyzing, selecting, and curating objects artifacts, and artworks for preservation and presentation.

	How are artworks cared for and by whom? What criteria, methods and processes are used to select work for preservation or presentation? Why do people value objects, artifacts and artworks, and select them for presentation?
1.5.5.Pr4a	Define and analyze the responsibilities of a curator in preserving and presenting artifacts or artwork.
	Artists, curators and others consider a variety of factors and methods including evolving technologies when preparing and refining artwork for display and or when deciding if and how to preserve and protect it.
	What methods and processes are considered when preparing artwork for presentation or preservation? How does refining artwork affect its meaning to the viewer? What criteria are considered when selecting work for presentation, a portfolio, or a collection?
1.5.5.Pr5a	Prepare and present artwork safely and effectively.
	Objects, artifacts and artworks collected, preserved or presented either by artists, museums, or other venues, communicate meaning and a record of social, cultural and political experiences resulting in the cultivating of appreciation and understanding.
