Big Idea

Chapter 1 - Geography of the United States. Geo = Earth therefore geography is the study of Earth's surface and the way people use it.

Chapter 2 - Native American groups that once lived in different regions of the United States. Geography of each region influences people who live there.

Enduring Understanding

Historians and archaeologists have several theories about the migration of the earliest people to the Americas.

The early American people settled in different regions and survived and flourished because they adapted to their environment.

Native American beliefs about respecting the environment and using resources wisely affected their lives and our lives today.

Cultures borrowed ideas or products from the early people and improved them.

Cooperation enables people to reach common goals.

Scarcity requires choice.

Essential Questions

Interdisciplinary Connections

- Academic and Technical Rigor - Projects are designed to address key learning standards identified by the school or district.
- Authenticity - Projects use a real world context (e.g., community and workplace problems) and address issues that matter to the students.
- Applied Learning - Projects engage students in solving problems calling for competencies expected in high-performance work organizations (e.g., teamwork, problem-solving, communication, etc.).
- Active Exploration - Projects extend beyond the classroom by connecting to internships, fieldbased investigations, and community explorations.
- Adult Connections - Projects connect students with adult mentors and coaches from the wider community.

- Assessment Practices - Projects involve students in regular, performance-based exhibitions and assessments of their work; evaluation criteria reflect personal, school, and real-world standards of performance.
