Big Idea

The Hebrew people appeared in Southwest Asia sometime between 2000 and 1500 BCE. The Hebrews eventually established a kingdom called Israel. The lives of the Hebrews were dominated by their religion, Judaism. In time, the Hebrews became known as Jews. Conquered by different groups, Jews scattered around the world. Their shared beliefs and customs helped them maintain their religion and sense of identity.

The geography of Greece shaped life there. Greece is a mountainous land surrounded by water. Travel across the mountains was difficult. As a result, Greeks turned to the sea for trade. They also developed independent city-states. The city state became the foundation of Greek civilization. The ancient Greeks made lasting contributions. They created the first democracy as well as myths and literature that still influence life today.

The powerful Greek city-states of Athens and Sparta were very different. They joined forces to defeat a Persian invasion, but later became enemies and went to war. The Spartans defeated the Athenians in 404 BCE. Lack of unity among the city-states helped Macedonia conquer Greece in the 300s BCE. Macedonian Alexander the Great built a large empire across much of Europe, Asia, and Egypt. The ancient Greeks' lasting contributions include achievements in the arts, philosophy, and science.

Enduring Understanding

Conflict leads to changes, both positive and negative

Classical civilizations (Greece, Rome, India & China) developed and expanded into empires of unprecedented size and diversity by creating centralized governments and promoting commerce, a common culture and social values

Cultural exchange and diffusion dramatically increased and enduring world religions emerged during the era of classical civilizations

Classical civilizations declined as a result of internal weaknesses and external invasions, but they left lasting legacies for future civilizations

The Ancient Greeks planted seeds that would have long-lasting impact on western civilization including the areas of art and architecture, literature, politics, philosophy and science

Essential Questions

Interdisciplinary Connections

- Academic and Technical Rigor - Projects are designed to address key learning standards identified by the school or district.
- Authenticity - Projects use a real world context (e.g., community and workplace problems) and address issues that matter to the students.
- Applied Learning - Projects engage students in solving problems calling for competencies expected in high-performance work organizations (e.g., teamwork, problem-solving, communication, etc.).
- Active Exploration - Projects extend beyond the classroom by connecting to internships, fieldbased investigations, and community explorations.
- Adult Connections - Projects connect students with adult mentors and coaches from the wider community.
- Assessment Practices - Projects involve students in regular, performance-based exhibitions and assessments of their work; evaluation criteria reflect personal, school, and real-world standards of performance.
